ALL EDUCATORS. EVERY CHILD. NO LIMITS.
A safe, comforting & restraint-free crisis management system.

Restraints and Seclusions are:

Ineffective
often causing, reinforcing and maintaining aggression.

Traumatic
resulting in emotional and physical distress.

Costly
leading to significant costs related to injuries, decreased productivity and recruitment/retention challenges.

Eliminating restraint and seclusions saves lives and money while building a safe and productive environment. Ukeru® has a unique approach and proven track record for eliminating restraints while increasing safety for both teachers and students.

ROOM OVERCROWDING/FIRE CODES

We try to schedule popular topics in rooms large enough to accommodate potential attendance. Please note that there are approximately 30 meetings convening at any given time during the convention. Please select alternative sessions in advance so that you can quickly move to another session if you are unable to arrive early enough to get a seat at your first choice. For your safety and to adhere to fire regulations, meeting rooms that are full will be restricted thereafter. Standing room is not an option.

SMOKING

The CEC Convention & Expo is a nonsmoking event. Smoking is prohibited in the Oregon Convention Center and the hotels.

CEC DISCLAIMER: Reference herein by any speaker and/or exhibitor regarding commercial products, processes, or service does not necessarily constitute or imply the Council for Exceptional Children’s (CEC) endorsement or recommendation. The views and opinions of any speaker and/or exhibitor expressed herein do not necessarily state or reflect those of CEC and shall not be used for advertising or product endorsement purposes.

Council for Exceptional Children

EVENT RULES & CONDITIONS

All attendees for workshops, conventions, or other events of the Council for Exceptional Children ("CEC") agree to comply with all rules and conditions of the Event, including all rules in the event program, all future correspondence, and as may be posted at the event.

Attendees of any Convention activity must wear the official event name badge. Name badges are required for admission to all events.

Event registration may not be used for advertising, promotions, giveaways, sweepstakes, or other trade purposes without express written consent of CEC.

Event attendees must behave responsibly at all events. Threatening physical actions and disorderly or disruptive conduct will not be tolerated and may result in removal from the event, denial of access to event facilities and other penalties.

Event attendees voluntarily assume all risk and danger of personal injury (including death) and all hazards arising from, or related in any way to the event, whether occurring prior to, during, or after the event, howsoever caused and whether by negligence and or otherwise. Rules and conditions are subject to change without notice.

Event attendees may not under any circumstances conduct any live or recorded audio, video, or photographic activities without the express permission of the CEC Executive Director.

Event attendees grant permission to CEC (and its designees and agents) to utilize the attendee’s image, likeness, actions, and statements in any live or recorded audio, video, or photographic display or the transmission, exhibition, publication, or reproduction made of, or at, CEC events in any medium or context for commercial or promotional purposes without further authorization or compensation.

Professional Development Hours
You can earn CEC Professional Development Hours (PDHs) for all the education sessions you attend.

What are CEC Professional Development Hours (PDHs)?
One professional development hour (PDH) represents one clock hour spent in a planned continuing education experience that is relevant to the profession or discipline of special education, is developed from explicit learning outcomes, conducted by qualified instructional personnel, and designed to reflect principles of good practice in adult education.

Will CEC PDHs count toward my license or certification requirements?
Many states accept CEC professional development activities toward their requirements, but some do not. Check in advance with the relevant credentialing authorities in your state.

What convention activities carry CEC PDHs?
You can earn CEC PDHs for all convention education sessions, including convention workshops, presentations with Q&A, panels, posters, and town hall meetings. Activities that are not eligible for PDHs include meetings, exhibits, and exhibit showcase sessions, social events, and awards ceremonies. You may earn up to 23 hours by attending eligible sessions.

What are the requirements to receive CEC PDHs?
- You must be registered for the convention.
- You must attend a session in full to claim it for PDHs.
- For poster sessions, you should engage with poster content for the full 45-minute time block to earn PDHs.
(The reporting system will not allow you to claim two sessions that overlap in time.)

How will I claim credit?
- After the convention ends, you’ll log into the CEC website and enter each convention session you attend. Specific instructions will be provided via email to registrants.
- You’ll have through March 31, 2020, to enter all your sessions and claim your transcript.
- Be sure to keep good personal records of all the sessions you attend. There is no charge to use the tracking system, receive a transcript, or receive CEC PDHs.

What will my PDH transcript include?
Your transcript will list all the sessions you attended and reported, the duration in hours of each one, and the total number of PDHs you earned. Your PDH transcript will be accompanied by a certificate of attendance.

Need to earn academy for certification of Vision Rehabilitation and Education Professional (ACVREP) continuing education credits?
CEC’s Division on Visual Impairments and Deafblindness will be sponsoring Academy for Certification of Vision Rehabilitation and Education Professional (ACVREP) continuing education credits for Certified O&M Specialists (COMS), Certified Low Vision Specialists (CLVT), and Certified Vision Rehabilitation Therapists (CVRT). Continuing education credits can be earned in the DVIDB sponsored presentations only. Please see the DVIDB representative at each session to complete paperwork for these continuing education units.

Illinois residents can earn ISBE hours at CEC 2020 Portland.
Please stop by the Professional Development Hour (PDH) Booth in the CEC registration area in Hall C to get more information.

Wednesday, Feb. 5

1:00–3:00 PM  SESSION: 1
ROOM: PORTLAND BALLROOM 252

Standards Aligned IEPs to Promote Equity and Access

TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Students with disabilities are the lowest performing subgroup in the United States. How do educators ensure that Tier 1 instruction is effective for all learners, including students with disabilities? This session will describe how special education students are provided access to a strong core curriculum with high-quality instruction in the general education classroom setting and given the support to attain grade-level standards.

LEADER(S): Jolly Piersall, Indiana IEP Resource Center, Indianapolis
PRESENTER(S): Matthew Johnson, Indiana IEP Resource Center, Indianapolis; Patrick McGinley, Indiana IEP Resource Center, Indianapolis; Marcee Wilburn, Indiana IEP Resource Center, Indianapolis

Thursday, Feb. 6

9:45–11:45 AM  SESSION: 79  ROOM: A106

Dyslexia 2.0: Moving Beyond the ‘Big 5’ to Effective Reading Instruction

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Despite widespread familiarity with the five elements of reading identified by the National Reading Panel, many teachers feel unprepared to meet the needs of struggling readers. In this session, panelists from CEC’s Division for Learning Disabilities provide strategies on how to move beyond the “Big 5” to implement systematic, structured reading instruction.

LEADER(S): Kristin Sayeski, University of Georgia, Athens
PRESENTER(S): Holly Lane, University of Florida, Gainesville; Devin Kearns, University of Connecticut, Storrs; Michael Hebert, University of Nebraska, Lincoln

9:45–11:45 AM  SESSION: 80  ROOM: B114

Practical Trauma-Informed Social and Emotional Learning Strategies for the Classroom

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This will build participants’ capacity to integrate and infuse trauma-sensitive social and emotional learning (SEL) strategies into the classroom. The presenter will demonstrate strategies for building youth social and emotional learning competencies while maintaining an engaging classroom learning environment, model techniques for ending power struggles and responding effectively to disruptive behavior, and share ways to differentiate classroom behavioral support based on students’ needs.

LEADER(S): Gregory Benner, The University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa

Improving Implementation to Improve Outcomes

TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Panel

How can you make significant improvements in instruction and behavior support that improve achievement of students with disabilities? Presenters will describe how teachers, principals, and district staff implement practices that improve the academic and behavioral outcomes for students with disabilities. Participants will learn about approaches to implementing co-teaching, co-planning, math and reading interventions, as well as specially designed instruction, more generally.

LEADER(S): Larry Wexler and Jennifer Coffey, OSEP, U.S. Department of Education, Washington, DC
PRESENTER(S): Theresa Farmer, Alabama State Department of Education, Birmingham; Barbara Guy, Iowa Department of Education, Ames; Eric Gebhart, Iowa Department of Education, Ames

📍 The Keeping All Students Safe Act: Federal Legislation on Restraint and Seclusion

TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Children with disabilities are disproportionately impacted by the use of practices such as restraint and seclusion across America’s schools and there is no federal policy regarding these practices. In response, the U.S. Congress is considering federal legislation to create minimum standards including providing training and other resources to school teams and school safety personnel focused on influencing state and district practices regarding restraint and seclusion of students including students with disabilities. Join this session to learn more about the Keeping All Students Safe Act.

LEADER(S): Laura Kaloi, Council for Exceptional Children, Arlington, VA

PRESENTER(S): Kimberly Knackstedt, Senior Policy Advisor, U.S. Senator Patty Murray (Invited)

❖ Special Education in the 116th Congress and Trump Administration

TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Federal policy initiatives have a direct impact on special/gifted education and early intervention. Join this two-part session to learn more about current activities and priorities for 2020.

Part I: Officials from the U.S. Department of Education (Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services and the Office for Civil Rights) will discuss key priorities in special education research, practice and civil rights protections.

Part II: CEC and division advisors will discuss CEC's perspective on key education policy issues being pursued by the Administration and the U.S. Congress.

LEADER(S): Laura Kaloi and Kuna Tavalin, Council for Exceptional Children, Arlington, VA

2:45–3:45 PM  SESSION: 571
ROOM: PORTLAND BALLROOM 252

❖ Families as Partners: Research-Based Practices to Support Students With Special Needs

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Family engagement and partnership interventions are essential for maximizing the success of students with special education needs. This session will review relationship-based partnership approaches to support children with special needs, including those in early childhood and school settings. Research results, practice recommendations, and video examples will be highlighted.

LEADER(S): Susan Sheridan, Prem Paul Research Center at Whittier School, University of Nebraska-Lincoln

1:30–2:30 PM  SESSION: 511
ROOM: PORTLAND BALLROOM 252

❖ Practical Strategies for Teachers of Children with Emotional and Behavioral Disorders: The Integrated Literacy Study Group Innovation

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The Integrated Literacy Study Group (I-LSG) is a personalized, digitally-delivered professional learning program for elementary educators of students with or at risk for emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD). During this session, presenters will demo the program and also model some of the reading and social and emotional learning strategies built into I-LSG.

LEADER(S): Gregory Benner, The University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa
PRESENTER(S): Teressa Trusty, Trifoia, Eugene, OR

4:00–5:00 PM  SESSION: 629
ROOM: PORTLAND BALLROOM 252

❖ The Impact of Story-Based Professional Development Videos on MTSS Practices

TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session shares the results of an evidence-based online professional development (PD) program on teachers’ knowledge and use of multilayered systems of support (MTSS) ‘best practice’ approaches to supporting student learning. It will include a demonstration of the online PD and findings from the initial 3 years of research.

Workshop 01 – Developing Legally Defensible IEPs

The U.S. Supreme Court has recently referred to the individualized education program (IEP) as the ‘centerpiece’ of IDEA’s education delivery system for students with disabilities. In this workshop, examine many common pitfalls that educators must avoid—both procedurally and substantively—in an effort to ensure that IEPs are legally defensible.

- Recognize common procedural and substantive mistakes made in the development of IEPs that have significant legal implications
- Participate appropriately in IEP meetings
- Facilitate IEP team members and meetings in a way that will assist in avoiding legal disputes

ROOM: B117

Workshop 02 – Trauma-Responsive Practices Across the Tiers: What Every Educator Needs to Know

It is estimated that approximately 25% of students will experience trauma or toxic stress before the age of 18. Many educators are turning to the treatment framework known as trauma-informed care (TIC). The focus of TIC is on responsiveness to trauma with explicit efforts made in restoring emotional safety, building healthy relationships, and creating positive opportunities for students.

- Demonstrate an understanding of trauma and toxic stress and its impact on staff and students
- Integrate trauma-informed approaches into existing multitiered behavior frameworks
- Identify key features of strategies and practices of trauma-responsive schools
- Identify ways to incorporate the trauma responsiveness practices and considerations into IEP goals, functional behavior assessments, and behavior intervention plans

Lynne DeSousa, Colorado Department of Education, Denver

ROOM: B118

Workshop 03 – Keep Them Motivated! An Introduction to Classroom Pivotal Response Teaching

For children with autism spectrum disorder, maintaining high levels of motivation can be difficult. In this introductory workshop, you will learn about a packaged, evidence-based intervention called classroom pivotal response teaching (CPRT) that has components aimed specifically at this deficit area. Walk away from this workshop with several practical strategies that can be applied in your classroom immediately.

- Name the pivotal areas of behavioral deficit in learners with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) that are addressed using classroom pivotal response teaching (CPRT)
- Describe the components of CPRT
- Make an individualized plan for implementation of CPRT components in the classroom

Janice Chan, University of California San Diego; Melissa Mello, University of California Davis, MIND Institute

ROOM: B113

Workshop 04 – Tier 2 and 3 Behavior Support: Developing Protocols and Implementation Plans

This workshop presents a multitiered approach to behavior support that ensures that the easiest and least staff-intensive interventions are tried first, only progressing to more complex and staff-intensive interventions if needed. Attendees will evaluate the current array of Tier 2 and 3 supports in their schools, identify gaps in that array, and develop an action plan for closing any gaps that currently exist.

- Assess the quality of current Tier 2 and 3 problem-solving processes and identify any weaknesses or gaps
- Identify a menu of early-stage and ready-to- implement Tier 2 interventions
- Develop an action plan for implementing or refining Tier 2 and 3 processes and procedures

Jessica Sprick, Safe & Civil Schools, Eugene, OR; Tricia Berg, University of Oregon, Eugene

Workshop 05 – Are You Using Your Paraeducators Appropriately? Strategies for Teachers and Administrators

Paraeducators are used in increasing numbers to deliver an array of special education services—often with little or no formal preparation and or supervision. In this interactive workshop, the presenter will share research-based strategies for paraeducator supervision and provide tools, and resources that can be used by special and general educators and administrators to appropriately guide and direct paraeducators’ work.

- Demonstrate an understanding of the CEC paraprofessional standards and their implications in terms of supervision of paraprofessionals
- Describe research-based components, content, and tools related to paraprofessional supervision that need to be delivered to teacher candidates and teachers
- Integrate this content into teacher preparation programs and inservice professional development for teachers

Ritu Chopra, The PAR²A Center, University of Colorado, Denver

ROOM: B111
Workshop 06 – CEC Preparation Program Report Developer Workshop

In this interactive workshop, you will learn the components of CEC Preparation Program Recognition Reports that will be submitted to the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) using CEC’s Professional Preparation Standards. You will come away better prepared to develop program performance-based assessments, align them with the CEC content standards, and prepare the final SPA program report.

- Describe the CEC program recognition report process and list its essential elements
- Develop program performance-based assessments and align them with the CEC Preparation Standards
- Develop the SPA program report

Joni Baldwin, University of Dayton, OH

ROOM: B112
Workshop 07 – CEC Preparation Program Report Reviewer Workshop

This workshop will train you to review program reports submitted to the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) using CEC’s Professional Preparation Standards. Principles for and examples of program review and strategies for reviewing reports and successfully writing a review will be shared.

- Explain the steps and components in reviewing a CEC Preparation Program Recognition Report
- Ensure that program assessments align with the major elements of the CEC Preparation Standards
- Complete a thorough review of a preparation program recognition report

Workshop 08 – The ABCs of Autism in the Classroom: Setting the Stage for Success

In this workshop, learn about the basics of autism spectrum disorder and behavior, and how to investigate the function of behaviors using the ABCs: antecedents (what happened before), behavior (what happened), and consequences (what happened after). Explore evidence-based strategies to deal with many common behavior challenges, and leave with a plan for maintenance and generalization.

- Explain the importance of the relationship between the antecedents and consequences of a behavior and the function of the behavior
- Identify antecedent control procedures which can prevent challenging behaviors before they start
- Identify evidence-based strategies and tools for changing problem behaviors
- Help students maintain positive behavior changes and generalize their improved behaviors to other settings

Wendela Marsh, PIPS for Autism, LLC, Salem, OR

Workshop 09 – Co-Teaching Nuts and Bolts: In the Classroom, the School, and the District

Despite being widely recommended and implemented, co-teaching is a complex endeavor. And although theories, concepts, and principles are useful, what professionals most want to know is how to implement co-teaching so that it is feasible, cost-effective, and, most important, beneficial to students. This workshop will tackle those topics and provide use-them-tomorrow ideas for making co-teaching all it should be.

- Identify at least six key site and administrative factors that determine co-teaching success, analyzing them with a local lens
- Apply eight classroom practices that support co-teaching or impede its implementation
- Generate realistic solutions for minimizing co-teaching problems and maximizing its success (classroom, site, district)

Workshop 10 – Becoming a Lighthouse Rather than a Tugboat: Coaching for Success

This workshop is designed to build the capacity of coaches seeking to improve teacher practices and student learning. The presenters summarize four effective coaching practices, highlighting nuanced information about the successful use of these practices. Attendees will receive hands-on opportunities to apply coaching practices and reflect on personal strengths and challenges.

- Define four effective coaching practices and explain why these practices serve as the foundation for coaching sessions with teachers
- Embed the four coaching practices into their work with teachers
- Integrate free, online coaching tools into coaching sessions
- Reflect on their development as a coach and identify specific areas of strength and improvement

Workshop 11 – Improving Challenging Behaviors in the Classroom: Instruction as the Missing Link

One of the greatest stressors teachers face is managing challenging behavior. Direct instruction in replacement behaviors is often the ‘missing link’ in effective interventions for improving behavior. During this workshop, learn ways to (a) address challenging behaviors by identifying simple and practical interventions, and (b) actively teach and reinforce positive replacement behaviors.

- Identify the contexts in which behavior problems are most likely to occur in their classroom or school
- Use a framework for identifying and planning simple and practical interventions to address challenging behavior
- Integrate direct instruction of behaviors into their classroom management routines
- Actively teach and reinforce appropriate behaviors to increase student success in their classroom

Workshop 12 – What’s Happening in Washington, DC and How You Can Become an Influencer

In this workshop, CEC’s Senior Policy and Advocacy Advisors will provide an overview of the intersection of politics and policy and updates on the education policy and federal funding issues of importance to CEC membership. This interactive presentation will teach and support members in their own advocacy, from the basics of the Legislative Action Center to tips on how to educate elected officials.

- Identify and articulate federal policy issues of importance to CEC membership
- Discuss CEC’s key policy priorities with elected officials

Workshop 13 – Observing and Coaching the HLPs: Tools and Strategies for Effective Implementation

Over the past few years the field of special education has embraced the high-leverage practices (HLPs). In this half-day workshop, the presenters will introduce, discuss, and model implementation for specific components tied to five key HLPs: explicit instruction, feedback, creating a positive and consistent learning environment, engaging students, and systematically designing instruction towards learning goals.

- Describe at least three strategies for effectively implementing CEC’s high-leverage practices (HLPs)
- List two or more actionable ways to successfully model the HLPs
- Identify at least two resources to support the implementation of the HLPs

Michael Kennedy, University of Virginia, Charlottesville

Workshop 14 – Relating in the Classroom: Evidence-Based Strategies for Teacher-Paraeducator Interactions

Effective collaboration among classroom personnel can improve achievement for students with and without disabilities. Unfortunately, few opportunities are available to provide support in forming and maintaining effective teacher-paraeducator teams. During this session, you will be provided with strategies for strengthening collaborative relationships and overcoming challenges to effective teacher-paraeducator collaboration.

- Explain the practical significance of effective teacher-paraeducator collaboration
- Describe barriers to effective teacher-paraeducator collaboration
- Utilize evidence-based practices to optimize teacher-paraeducator collaboration in your classroom
- Demonstrate skills in using interactive activities to foster teacher-paraeducator collaboration

1:00 PM–4:00 PM

ROOM: A106

Many professionals understand that co-teaching must include providing specially designed instruction (SDI) for students with disabilities. This workshop is a roll-up-your-sleeves session intended to demonstrate how to implement SDI in the co-taught classroom, from looking at individual student needs through selecting SDI to integrating that SDI into general instruction to measuring its effectiveness.

- Explain what specially designed instruction (SDI) is, distinguishing it from related concepts (e.g., differentiation, accommodation)
- Select SDI strategies based on documented student needs
- Integrate SDI into the instruction of a co-taught class, using co-teaching approaches to foster its implementation
- Document the delivery of SDI, including gathering data on its effect on student learning

Marilyn Friend, University of North Carolina, Greensboro

Workshop 16 – Thriving as a New Special Education Teacher: How to Dot the I’s and Cross the T’s in the IEP Process

Join us for a hands-on workshop where you will learn strategies to collaborate with families, use data to identify student needs and create individualized education program (IEP) goals, and monitor progress on IEP goals.

- Use resources available in The Survival Guide for New Special Education Teachers to enhance their practice.
- Identify student learning needs through assessments
- Understand standards to create individualized IEP goals
- Use instructional strategies that facilitate student learning
- Describe ways to assess and monitor progress toward meeting IEP goals

Clara Hauth, Marymount University, Arlington, VA; Catherine Martin, Fairfax County Public Schools, VA

ROOM: A109

Workshop 17 – The Diagnostic-Prescriptive Reading Teacher (A Workshop for Literacy Nerds)

Do you have students who read haltingly and make many errors? This workshop is for educators working with students who have not mastered foundational reading skills. Attendees will work on assessment, diagnosing error patterns, and intensive and explicit instruction to reduce errors and build skills. In addition, learn to identify important considerations for students in curricular and instructional needs.

- Listen to students read and diagnose deficits
- Identify and use procedures to remediate deficits
- Identify and use procedures to build skills
- Identify important considerations in curriculum and instruction

Marilyn Sprick, Safe & Civil Schools, Eugene, OR
Workshop 18 – College Transition: Preparing Students With Disabilities for Success

Research shows that preparing students with disabilities for success at college involves educating them about changes they will find in the postsecondary environment and making sure that they develop certain skills. This workshop will review the shift in laws at college, how the disability services system works, accommodations that will likely be available, and what skills and knowledge are correlated with students’ success.

- Describe how the disability accommodations system works at college
- Identify what accommodations may or may not be available at the college level
- Identify what documentation students will need in order to apply for accommodations at college
- Identify what skills and areas of knowledge have been linked with postsecondary success for students with disabilities

Elizabeth Hamblet, Columbia Organization, New York, NY

Workshop 19 – Practical Program Design for Behavioral Classrooms: Addressing Intensive Behavioral Needs

In this workshop, learn best-practice strategies for building a positive and proactive self-contained special education classroom for students with intensive behavioral needs. You will engage in a variety of activities to build an environment that increases engagement, improves student outcomes, integrates evidence-based practices, and promotes generalizability of skills to less restrictive environments.

- Identify structural variables they can manipulate (e.g., physical layout, clarity of classroom rules and expectations, point cards/level systems) to set the stage for appropriate behavior and how to modify these variables when chronic behavioral issues persist
- Identify the critical components for teaching behavioral, social-emotional, and academic skills in a behavioral class setting, and how to provide for generalization to less restrictive environments
- Select practical strategies they can implement immediately to achieve positive ratios of interaction with students, including methods for collecting data, reinforcement systems, and strategies and systems for providing fluent corrections and effective corrective consequences
- Design an action plan with strategies they can implement immediately to address specific concerns occurring in the classroom, and outline a secondary action plan for work they can do to prepare their classroom for the following school year

Jessica Sprick, Safe & Civil Schools, Eugene, OR; Tricia Berg, Safe & Civil Schools, Eugene, OR

Workshop 20 – Using Data-based Individualization to Put the ‘I’ in IEPs

Are you struggling with setting realistic yet meaningful goals for your students and designing instruction to meet their individualized needs? This interactive workshop provides an overview of data-based individualization (DBI) and illustrates how it can be used to improve and simplify IEP writing by setting individualized, standards-aligned goals; designing individualized, specialized instruction; and monitoring progress.

- Use data to write realistic intervention and IEP goals using a variety of goal-setting strategies across academic areas and behavior
- Use data from the data-based individualization process to design individualized, specialized instruction and evaluate progress
- Access a variety of tools and resources to better understand how to intensify interventions based on student data

Workshop 21 – Coaching Paraeducators to Maximize Discreet Support and Minimize Proximity to Advance Learner Outcomes

Attend this workshop and learn how to design and deliver effective paraeducator support to students with autism spectrum disorder, intellectual disability, and multiple disabilities to maximize academic and social learning opportunities while promoting student independence. The presenter will share strategies to train and coach paraeducators to provide student-centered support that can be delivered in diverse settings.

- Effectively coach paraeducators to provide personalized support (academic, behavioral, social) to students with disabilities and specific to the setting (inclusive, special education setting, other)
- Describe teacher-paraeducator collaborative roles and responsibilities as part of the instructional team in providing support to students
- List at least three action steps to avoid intrusive support applying the evidence on paraeducator research
- Guide paraeducators to use appropriate level of prompts and cues to promote student independent performance and reduce dependence on adults

Workshop 22 – English Learners at Risk for or With Reading Disabilities—Interventions That Work!

The presenters of this workshop share their work from OSEP-funded model demonstration grants focusing on literacy interventions for English learners at risk for or with reading disabilities. Learn practical strategies that help ELs improve their literacy and language skills. They will demonstrate read-aloud routines and language-focused repeated reading strategies and share frameworks for ensuring instruction and intervention are culturally responsive. Attendees will leave with a rubric to ensure culturally and linguistically appropriate practices within literacy lessons.

- Apply a framework for providing culturally and linguistically aligned literacy interventions
- Use a read-aloud protocol for English learners (ELs)
- Evaluate lessons for cultural and linguistic enhancements and opportunities for EL students to respond

Workshop 23 – Executive Function Training: A Model for Explicit Instruction

This workshop focuses on improving students’ executive function skills while considering universal design for learning principles and metacognition. General and special education teachers will learn steps that guide instruction from the choice of executive functions a student will benefit from learning to the student’s learning, and generalizing helpful strategies to improve students’ executive functioning.

- Describe a rationale for improving students’ executive functions
- Describe an explicit process for improving executive function skills
- Consider universal design for learning (UDL) and metacognition to identify and teach supportive strategies for students having difficulties with executive functioning
- Develop an instructional plan that can be initiated with students to improve executive functioning

Sady Paulson: Sady Paulson is an independent videographer and national speaker on the power of accessibility. Sady uses Apple’s accessibility technology like Switch Control to interact with her computers, iPhone, and iPad. Sady is also an Apple Distinguished Educator. She was featured in, and edited, the 2016 commercial launching the re-designed Apple accessibility website. She will open CEC 2020 with a powerful message of talent, determination, and inclusion.

Mark Coppin: Mark Coppin is Director of Disability Services at North Dakota State University. For 32 years, he was the director of assistive technology at the Anne Carlsen Center for students with special needs where he coordinated the provision of assistive technology services. In addition to speaking on the local and national level, Mark’s experience includes presenting twice at the United Nations on the importance of accessibility. In 2009, Coppin was named an Apple Distinguished Educator. In 2013, he was one of 10 educators recognized as a Champion of Change by the White House.

Program Chair Featured: Standards Aligned IEPs to Promote Equity and Access

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Students with disabilities are the lowest performing subgroup in the United States. How do educators ensure that Tier 1 instruction is effective for all learners, including students with disabilities? This session will describe how special education students are provided access to a strong core curriculum with high-quality instruction in the general education classroom setting and given the support to attain grade-level standards.

First Step Next: Early Intervention for Young Children With Challenging Behaviors

TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Children with challenging behaviors need early, coordinated interventions. First Step Next is a collaborative preschool intervention program where the teacher, family member, and a behavior coach teach the at-risk child skills. Teacher and parent ratings of children’s behavior show a significant improvement after the intervention in research studies. This presentation will provide an overview of the project, with videotaped vignettes and share handouts and training materials.

Investigating the Effects of a First-Grade Mathematics Intervention

TOPIC: STEM
SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Panel

This session explores the results from a federally funded randomized control trial study of a 60-lesson first-grade mathematics intervention for students at risk for mathematics difficulties and learning disabilities. The panel will provide an overview of key curricular features, participant outcomes, and implications for practice. Attendees will gain an understanding of the key elements of effective mathematics intervention programs and how to design effective multitier systems of support.

Supporting the Co-Development of Language Skills, Behavior, and Socialization Through Evidence-Based Classroom Practices

SECONDARY TOPIC: Communicative Disabilities and Deafness
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation provides an overview of how language disorders influence children’s behavioral and social development. The presenters will review current research on the co-development of language skills, problem behavior, and social development; present the results of recent studies in this area; and provide strategies for practitioners that promote language and behavioral development.

★ Integrating Paraphrasing and Text Structure Instruction to Support Upper Elementary Struggling Readers’ Main Idea Generation and Reading Comprehension

TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Elementary struggling readers have difficulty generating and integrating main ideas. This session shares findings from a randomized control trial examining the effects of a reading intervention. Learn how to provide a paraphrasing process for teaching students how to generate main ideas rather than telling them to ‘find’ them, and utilize text structure instruction as a fix-up practice to support students with identifying the most important information about the topic.

★ From Assessment to Intervention: Executive Functions in Students with Attention and Behavioral Deficits

TOPIC: Assessment
SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents a systemic approach to identifying the executive functions of students with disabilities and guiding specific supports and interventions to improve executive function-related attentional and behavioral skills such as behavioral regulation; planning and organizing; working memory; and the ability to focus, shift, and sustain attention.

» A Comprehensive Examination of Electronic Wayfinding Technology for Visually Impaired Travelers in an Urban Environment

TOPIC: Visual Impairments
SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Wayfinding and navigation are key activities that allow people to acquire knowledge about the environment and develop cognitive representations to enable route planning and travel. For individuals with visual impairments, wayfinding is essential for successful transition, community participation, college, and career readiness. This presentation shares the results of focus-group research with individuals with visual impairments and deafblindness on their use of wayfinding apps.

TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

Meaningful Inclusion of K-12 Students With Disabilities in Computer Science Education

Few studies examine the experiences of students with disabilities in K-12 computer science (CS) education. This session presents findings from a National Science Foundation project examining the experiences of students with disabilities in CS education. Attendees will learn how a universal design for learning framework and pedagogical approaches such as explicit instruction and open-ended tasks can support student learning and engagement, and how this can be monitored through video analysis.

Using Apps to Collect Data in Early Childhood Settings

Data drives decision making regarding effective interventions to improve behavior. However, data collection efforts need to be efficient and accurate because time can be a barrier. Presenter will demonstrate a variety of data collection apps and discuss how these support behavior monitoring and interventions. Attendees will learn how to tailor these apps to their early childhood education settings.

Teacher2Teacher: Rebel Mart: Vocational Training for Students with Low-Incidence Disabilities

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Postsecondary vocational opportunities for students with low-incidence disabilities are rare because of the amount of required adaptations and supports. To address this need, the presenters of this session created a coffee shop (Rebel Mart) using and adapting readily available materials. The coffee shop has become a successful business that addresses and improves students’ vocational and social skills and increases independence. This type of modified program provides an opportunity for students to contribute to their school community. Presenters will provide participants with the task analyses, accommodations, modifications, and types of materials used to make the program successful.

Do Quality Environments Equal Quality Programs? A Study of Early Childhood Rural Education Environments in China

TOPIC: International Programs/Services

SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Although research has emphasized the importance of a high-quality learning environment and its influence on early development, there are limited studies on early-care environments in China. This panel discusses a recent study focusing on environments for one preschool program in rural northeastern China. The program emphasizes environment safety and developmentally appropriate resources, but child-initiated play resources, personal space, and accommodations for children with different abilities.

▶ Using Technology to Enhance Mathematics Instruction for Students With Mathematics Difficulties

FORMAT: Panel

Panelists of this session will present ways of utilizing technology to enhance mathematics instruction at school for students with or at risk for mathematics difficulties (MD). What are the overall features of computer software designed with artificial intelligence (intelligent tutoring systems) for numeracy in early childhood? How effective are mathematics apps for students with MD? How do these students respond to the use of virtual manipulatives within mathematics instruction?

▶ School-Based Depression and Anxiety Prevention Programs: A Quality Review and Meta-Analysis

TOPIC: Maltreatment
SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session shares the results of a study using CEC quality indicators to evaluate school-based anxiety and depression prevention programs. The study also included a systematic and meta-analysis examining the efficacy of school-based depression and anxiety-prevention programs with the finding of a quality review.

LEADER(S): Celal Perihan, Idaho State University, Pocatello
PRESENTER(S): Jenn Gallup, Idaho State University, Pocatello

2:15–3:15 PM • SESSION: 30 • ROOM: C125
▶ THE POWER OF THE ARTS TO SUPPORT AND ENHANCE LEARNING

TOPIC: Arts in Special Education
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR: Juliann Dorff, Kent State University, OH

▶ Benefits of Arts in Special Education: Academic, Behavioral, and Communicative Development

This presentation shares the results of a study providing evidence of the benefits of arts education for students with special education needs, and in particular their ability to transfer learning strategies from arts education to the general curriculum. Participants will learn those strategies, as well as how to implement and integrate arts education across the curriculum.

LEADER(S): Jacqulyn Urbani, Mills College, Oakland, CA

▶ Dramatic Inquiry: Supporting Student Imagination and Collaborative Learning in Early Childhood

This presentation shares best practices for incorporating authentic arts-based curricula that incorporate students’ interests, academic goals, and individualized education program (IEP) goals to support the implementation of a new teaching practice, dramatic inquiry, by an early childhood special educator that brings collaborative play-based inquiry instruction back into the early childhood classroom.

LEADER(S): Kathleen Farrand, Arizona State University, Tempe

▶ Seeing 20/20 in 2020: Lessons Learned Implementing Intensive Interventions in High-Need Schools

TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The implementation of multitiered system of support (MTSS) frameworks varies across states, districts, and schools despite consensus on critical components. Given the variation, 66 scholars participating in an OSEP-funded personnel preparation project created, implemented, and evaluated school change efforts to enhance MTSS within their schools across nine districts including rural, urban and suburban settings.

2:15–3:15 PM SESSION: 32 ROOM: D135
▶ 20 Strategies for Success: From Teacher Candidate to Beginning Teacher

TOPIC: Starting the Teaching Career
SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session provides teacher candidates and beginning teachers with effective strategies to go from ‘just surviving’ during induction years to thriving in their new positions! The information is based on 20 years of working with teacher candidates and first-, second-, and third-year special educators. Topics include landing a special education teaching position, time management, maintaining health, avoiding burnout, and collaborating with colleagues and families.

LEADER(S): Debi Gartland, Towson University, MD

2:15–3:15 PM SESSION: 33 ROOM: D136
▶ Technology Trends within Positive Behavior Interventions and Supports

FORMAT: Panel

Schools implementing positive behavior intervention and support (PBIS) have a unique opportunity to leverage technology to support their work. This panel will highlight technology trends to support behavior (e.g., video, mobile apps, progress monitoring systems), including discussions of research and practice, across Tier 1, Tier 2, and Tier 3.

LEADER(S): Shanna Hirsch, Clemson University, SC
PRESENTER(S): Allison Buhr, The University of Iowa, Iowa City; Kathleen Conley, University of Oregon, Eugene

▶ Acquisition and Generalization of Self-Instructional Behaviors for Students with Intellectual Disability

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation will include data from two studies that sought to discover if students at multiple age levels could acquire self-instructional behaviors and simultaneously generalize to untrained environments and tasks. By programming with multiple exemplars, results demonstrate a functional relation of generalized behavior change in real time.

▶ Effect of Telepractice on Training Teachers to Contrive Motivating Operations

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation shares the results of a study demonstrating the effectiveness of using telepractice to teach teachers of students with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) how to contrive motivating operations to teach manding. Using a multiple baseline across participants design, four teachers learned to contrive motivating operations through an online module, video models, and direct performance feedback via video-conferencing. Data were analyzed both visually and statistically.

▶ Family-Focused Intervention Strategies for Very Young Children With Cerebral/Cortical Visual Impairment

SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session summarizes a multi-year project aimed at informing practitioners on how very young children with cerebral/cortical visual impairment use their vision, develop early skills, and interact with the environment. Interventions across developmental domains and embedded in daily activities will be detailed through discussion, handouts, and videos.

Creating the Vision: Building College Expectations for Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

How do you get students interested in going to college? How can educators’ expectations affect students seeing college as a choice? This session explores the most important aspect of preparing for college: the expectation that it will happen. Strategies for educators to change their own expectations about students’ potential for college are provided, along with tools educators can use to work with families to develop and support college expectations for students with disabilities.

LEADER(S): Meg Grigal, University of Massachusetts, Boston

2:15–3:15 PM SESSION: 38 ROOM: E143

Cultivating an Empowered Transition: An Integrative Approach to College Success

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

In college, young adults need to have advanced self-awareness, self-regulation, and problem-solving skills—and these skills continue to need cultivation, especially for students with disabilities (SWD). The presenters will describe pathways to success that can have a transformative impact on a student’s individual success and present research-based ways to build skills that can empower SWD to creatively work through obstacles to reach their academic and personal goals in postsecondary settings.

Universal Design for Learning: Connecting Teacher Implementation to Student Achievement

TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The presenters of this session will share results from a study investigating the impact of teachers’ level of universal design for learning (UDL) implementation in mathematics and language arts on students’ performance, as measured by the state standardized test. A significant correlation was found between high level of teacher’s implementation of UDL and students’ achievement on the state test.

2:15–3:15 PM SESSION: 40 ROOM: E145

High Quality Co-Teaching to Improve Student Engagement

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This engaging session immerses participants in the co-teaching core competency framework, designed to enhance student engagement. As co-teaching teams improve their practice from developing to master-level co-teaching, students’ engagement also increases. Participants will learn essential strategies for improving co-teaching practices using the core competencies through simulations and facilitator-supported action planning.

The Special Education Teacher Preparation Pipeline Over Time

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Most school leaders report shortages of special education teachers. The presenters of this session examined the pipeline of new special education teachers 1990-2015, addressing national trends and trends by state and accounting for the number of students receiving special education services. Participants will learn about policy levers for addressing shortages.

Preparing General and Special Educators Through Structured Collaboration: Perceptions of Preservice Teachers

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents findings from original research supporting collaboration and inclusive practices used by teacher candidates. Participants will be provided an overview of how teacher candidates in sections of general and special education courses were provided structured collaborative experiences to plan and implement specially designed instruction in inclusive classrooms.

LEADER(S): Matthew Love, San Jose State University, CA

Grading in Inclusive Settings: Fair and Equitable Grading Practices for All Students

SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session offers a review and interactive discussion of fair and equitable grading practices applicable to all students, providing an in-depth look into these grading practices and their effect on students with exceptionalities. This session is designed to review fair and equitable grading practices and their implications for students with disabilities, and equip participants to use these guidelines in their own classrooms.

A Collaborative Supervision Model for Preservice General Education Elementary Teachers to Work With Students With Disabilities

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session examines a collaborative supervision model for preservice general education elementary teachers designed to improve attitudes, knowledge, and practices toward inclusion. Over a yearlong program, preservice teachers received collaborative supervision where a general education faculty member and special education faculty member supported fieldwork learning. This model was compared to a traditional supervision model in which a general education faculty member is the sole supervisor.

Early Writing Intervention to Build Literacy Skills for Children With Intensive Needs

FORMAT: Demonstration

The presenters of this session describe the ‘simple view of writing,’ a theory of writing development that consists of three components: transcription, text generation, and self-regulation. They will also demonstrate research-based writing interventions that address each of these components. Participants will have an opportunity to practice writing interventions in the session.

FBA to BIP: Building School Capacity to Provide Behavior Support for Students With Persistent Challenging Behavior

FORMAT: Demonstration

Many schools struggle to support students with challenging behavior and lack personnel trained to develop and implement effective behavior support plans. This demonstration session will introduce the Basic FBA to BIP e-learning modules, a free training program. The session will present research to support this training and provide guidance for maximizing use of the e-learning modules to support school and district implementation.

❖ The Challenges and Successes of a Student-Centered Community-Based Transition Program

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Demonstration

In this session, presenters will describe how two urban school district community-based transition programs were created to meet the transition needs of students with moderate to severe disabilities and address the gap between high school special education classrooms and postsecondary outcomes. Participants will engage in discussions surrounding community partnerships, evidence-based strategies, supporting culturally diverse families, and promoting systemic and policy changes.

❖ Best Practices in Self-Monitoring Interventions

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session shares findings from a recent systematic review of the self-monitoring literature, including a moderator analysis on treatment components and student characteristics. The presenters will discuss recommendations for best practices associated with developing self-monitoring interventions, including setting intervention goals, determining interval lengths, and how to include feedback and reinforcement.

❖ Empowering ELL Students to Improve Writing Skills Through Inquiry-Based Learning

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This panel session reviews a current case study introducing the application of inquiry-based learning in improving the writing skills of English language learners (ELLs). Four levels of inquiry (confirmation, structured, guided, open) were applied in assessing and assisting a third-grade ELL student with learning disabilities. How to determine which level of inquiry is appropriate and how to generalize this approach to address students of different abilities’ writing needs will be addressed.

❖ Implementing State Dyslexia Legislation: Evidence-Based Practices for Effective Screening and Instruction

FORMAT: Panel

Many educators are looking for guidance on implementing state laws related to the education of students with dyslexia in a manner supported by research. This session provides practical recommendations on implementing evidence-based screening and intervention practices for students with dyslexia, and showcases available resources for dyslexia screening and intervention.

- Coaching Teachers: A Model for Training and Implementing Coaching With Fidelity

  TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
  SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
  FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

  The presenters of this session will describe a model for training coaches to support teachers’ implementation of data-based instruction. The model includes workshops, a problem-solving process, and monitoring coaching fidelity. Presenters will describe how the coaching process is monitored to maintain consistency across coaches, and how coaching is differentiated based on teacher needs.

- Administrator Support for Students With Emotional and Behavioral Disorders in Inclusive School Environments

  TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
  SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
  FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

  Nearly half of all students with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD) receive the majority of their education in general education classrooms. However, they are among the most marginalized group of students in schools. The presenters of this session will share findings from a recent review and recommendations for administrators and others for implementing evidence-based practices that positively support students with EBD in inclusive school environments.

- Cultural Competence as a Means to More Accurately Assess and Identify Emotional and Behavioral Disorders Among African American Students

  TOPIC: Assessment
  SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
  FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

  African American students are over-identified with or at risk of emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD). Educators are an integral part of the referral and assessment process from initial referrals through ongoing assessment and progress monitoring in the classroom. Educators must increase their self-awareness of cultural biases that influence these processes, and build cultural competence in order to help these students improve their behavior and academic performance.

- Mapping Reading Intervention Elements to Neurocognitive Changes in Developing Readers

  TOPIC: Research
  SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
  FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

  This session outlines a National Institutes of Health (NIH)-funded study investigating the neurobiological changes in developing readers’ brains as they receive reading instruction in five evidence-based strategies. Participants will learn about the intervention methods and preliminary results suggesting how these elements map to reading growth and brain change. Participants will gain insights into this emerging science and effective strategies for students with reading disabilities.

IT TAKES A VILLAGE TO IMPROVE TRANSITION OUTCOMES

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

MODERATOR: Hunter Matusevich, University of Kansas, Lawrence

Improving Transition Assessment and Practices Through Team-Based Professional Development

This presentation shares results of a mixed-methods study examining outcomes associated with the Transition Coalition Self-Study. The results of this quasi-experimental study indicate the potential for this intervention to improve transition outcomes. Attendees will learn about the structure of the self-study and participate in some of the team learning activities. They will also gain insights into the experiences of professionals participating in self-studies.

Bridging Research and Practice: Scaffolding Rigorous Reading Instruction for Students With LD

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities

FORMAT: Panel

Students with learning disabilities (LD) require comprehensive, scaffolded reading instruction in order to meet current rigorous reading demands. This interactive panel presentation focuses on two research studies investigating approaches to scaffolding reading instruction for students with LD. Participants will learn to bridge research findings to practice and discuss next steps for advancing instruction.

❖ The Wonder of Science: Improving Teaching and Learning for Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Encouraging curiosity in the surrounding world is a role of science education that should be accessible to students with disabilities. A rigorous science education can tap that curiosity and increase students’ desire to learn science throughout their lives. Participants will increase their knowledge of science content and strategies to inform instruction.

❖ Improving Literacy of Students With Intellectual Disability via OSEP Model Demonstration Projects

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Panel

Recent research has advanced understanding of effective literacy instruction for students with intellectual disability (ID). The Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) recently funded three model demonstration projects designed to translate this research into practice. Initial progress of each project and research-based guidance for practitioners will be shared.

❖ Systematic and Innovative Solutions for Improving Special Education Teacher Recruitment and Retention

SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Panel

Whole-system approaches are needed to solve special education teacher shortages. This session’s panelists will focus on systematic and innovative ways to strengthen recruitment and retention, drawing on research and examples from education, industry, and technology use. In addition to describing innovative approaches, they will propose a nimble and responsive system for tracking progress.

LEADER(S): Bonnie Billingsley, Virginia Tech, Blacksburg

❖ Blueprint for Teaching Literacy Skills to Students With Significant Disabilities

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

In this session, presenters will discuss a systematic approach to teaching literacy skills to students with significant cognitive disabilities. To maximize literacy skills, instruction should include a balance of skill and meaning emphases and all components of reading and writing should be addressed every day. Participants will leave the session with a blueprint for delivering literacy instruction in a diverse classroom and free adapted resources for teaching literacy.

LEADER(S): Ashlyn Hudson, Tobii Dynavox, Pittsburgh, PA
PRESENTER(S): Emily Strom, Tobii Dynavox, Boulder, CO; Amber Dallas, Tobii Dynavox, Arlington, TX

❖ Bringing Curricula Closer to the Standards for Students With Low-Incidence Disabilities

Multidisciplinary teams of special educators at a school in Pennsylvania are preparing curriculum tools and professional development to enable teachers of students with moderate to significant instructional needs to provide engaging, rigorous, and flexible instruction across their years in K-12 education. The goal is to better prepare teachers to develop each student’s fullest potential.

LEADER(S): Amanda Helman, Colonial Intermediate Unit 20
3:30–4:30 PM  SESSION: 70  ROOM: F151

❖ What Do Teachers Know and Wish Parents Knew About Special Education?

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The presenters of this session share the research methods and results from a survey measuring teachers’ perceptions of parent knowledge of special education. Come participate in a robust discussion about how educators support parents by providing information and how these results align with your personal experiences. Participants will gain a better understanding of how other teachers work with parents and share special education information.

❖ More or Less? Understanding and Adjusting Intervention Intensity

TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session covers both concepts and the practical significance of intervention intensity for special education professionals. Intervention dose, dose frequency, intervention duration, and cumulative intensity will be explained using practical examples. A process for selecting and modifying intervention intensity will be provided to ensure attendees are capable of modifying intervention intensity for their students.

❖ Teaching Critical Fraction Concepts to Elementary Students

FORMAT: Demonstration

Because fraction knowledge predicts later mathematical development and success, it is critical that students develop firm conceptual knowledge of fractions including understanding and identification of fraction magnitude. The presenter will demonstrate fraction interventions that are efficient, effective, and result in conceptual understanding of fractions.

❖ Teaching Writing Through Imitation

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Demonstration

Students with disabilities often struggle with learning to write effectively. Teaching writing through imitation is effective because it eliminates the hurdle of not knowing what to say while guiding students in developing the language skills to know how to say it. This approach is flexible and can be used with elementary through high school students with a variety of disabilities. Session participants will learn procedures for scaffolding students’ writing through imitation.

Assessment-Guided Instructional Support Practices to Prevent Reading Disability Risk in Prekindergarten

SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention

FORMAT: Demonstration

In this demonstration, participants will learn about a prekindergarten reading disability risk assessment to guide intentional instruction. Participants will use provided screening scores to plan intentional and individualized learning supports, and explore how to monitor and evaluate literacy skills development for diverse children and those with high-priority needs and risks.

Learning to Love Dealing with Challenging Behavior and Bringing Joy to Your Classroom

Randy Sprick

Randy Sprick: Randy Sprick has worked as a paraprofessional, teacher, and teacher trainer at the elementary and secondary levels. Author of widely read books on behavior and classroom management, Dr. Sprick is Director of Safe & Civil Schools, a consulting company that provides inservice programs throughout the country. He and his trainers work with numerous large and small school districts on longitudinal projects to improve student behavior and motivation. Efficacy of that work is documented in peer-reviewed research, and Safe & Civil Schools materials are listed on the National Registry of Evidence-Based Programs and Practices (NREPP). Dr. Sprick was the recipient of the 2007 Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) Wallin Lifetime Achievement Award.

CEC-PD Showcase: Special Education Teachers Speak Out: Study of the State of the Profession

TOPIC: Pioneers/Historical Perspectives

FORMAT: Panel

Nearly 1,500 special educators responded to a survey about teacher conditions and quality, which was published in CEC’s TEACHING Exceptional Children (Fall 2019). The report provides perspectives about teaching practices, engagement with families, evaluation concerns, and what they most need to be successful. The authors will provide a brief overview and a panel of experts will address implications for special education within the system of K-20 education.

Program Chair Featured: Dyslexia 2.0: Moving Beyond the ‘Big 5’ to Effective Reading Instruction

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Despite widespread familiarity with the five elements of reading identified by the National Reading Panel, many teachers feel unprepared to meet the needs of struggling readers. In this session, panelists from CEC’s Division for Learning Disabilities provide strategies on how to move beyond the ‘Big 5’ to implement systematic, structured reading instruction.

Program Chair Featured: Practical Trauma-Informed Social and Emotional Learning Strategies for the Classroom

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This will build participants’ capacity to integrate and infuse trauma-sensitive social and emotional learning (SEL) strategies into the classroom. The presenter will demonstrate strategies for building youth social and emotional learning competencies while maintaining an engaging classroom learning environment, model techniques for ending power struggles and responding effectively to disruptive behavior, and share ways to differentiate classroom behavioral support based on students’ needs.

DCD SHOWCASE: CURRICULUM FOR DEAF/HH

TOPIC: Communicative Disabilities and Deafness
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

1. Optimizing Outcomes for Students Who are Deaf or Hard of Hearing
   This presentation shares highlights of the third edition of NASDSE’s “Optimizing Outcomes for Students who are Deaf or Hard of Hearing: Education Services Guidelines.” The presenter will outline the chapters, assessment tool, and the list of resources and will describe activities that states, local school districts, and schools can undertake to implement the guidelines.

   LEADER(S): Barbara Raimondo, Conference of Educational Administrators of Schools and Programs for the Deaf, Washington Grove, MD

2. Structured Teaching Students Who Are Deaf/Hard of Hearing
   This presentation will share preliminary findings from a study examining the effect of structured teaching (physical structure, schedules, work systems, routine, and visuals) when used by teachers of the deaf in their classrooms with children with hearing loss and disabilities. Teachers were instructed in the elements of structured teaching through modules and coaching. Learn about the effect of structured teaching on levels of adult prompting and student behavior and level of engagement.

3. Utility of Curriculum-Based Measures for Students Who Are Deaf/Hard of Hearing
   High-quality instruction to promote student achievement is underpinned by use of appropriate assessment tools. This presentation acknowledges the complexities of assessment with students who are deaf and hard of hearing and explores the utility of curriculum-based measures to inform instructional planning. Implications for English learners will be discussed.

Beyond Toxic Charity: Creating Long-Term Outcomes for Educational Practice And Social-Economic Sustainability for Inclusion In Haiti

TOPIC: International Programs/Services
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

In 2014, former CEC Teachers of the Year Hannah Ehrli and Don DeVito collaborated with Gertrude Bien Amie, director of Notre Maison Children’s Home (Port au Prince), to design one of Haiti’s first free-standing inclusive schools. The Haitian Center for Inclusive Education currently serves over 100 children with and without disabilities from preschool to 5th grade, continuing to develop successful pedagogical practice for children with special needs in the Third World.

Special Education Teacher Shortage Toolkit

SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

States and districts faced with a shortage of special education teachers need just-in-time strategies coupled with long-term, systemic solutions to ensure that every student with a disability has a fully prepared teacher. In this session, representatives of the CEEDAR Center present a toolkit with ready-to-use resources for recruiting, preparing, and retaining special education teachers.

Use of Technology and a Framework to Promote Teacher Candidates’ Self-Reflection Skills

SECONDARY TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

It’s commonly thought that video recording can support preserve teachers’ reflection and improve their teaching practices. The presenters of this session tested this theory using a real-time recording and transcribing technology; it was assumed that it would promote deeper reflection, which did not occur. This in turn led to revision of an existing self-reflection framework to systematically teach reflection skills, which resulted in improved teacher candidate reflection on their practice.

ParaImpact: Professional Development for Paraprofessionals of Elementary Students With Moderate-to-Severe Developmental Disabilities

SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The majority of paraeducators assume their role in the classroom without any preparation, acquiring skills by training on the job—while teachers consider themselves ill-equipped to supervise and train paras. ParaImpact is a program of video modules that aims to increase teachers’ capacity to supervise and train paras through the implementation of practice-based coaching (PBC).

DVIDB Showcase: Social Interactions Among Secondary Students With and Without Visual Impairments

TOPIC: Visual Impairments
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The presenters of this session share findings from an observational study examining social interactions among students with and without visual impairments in secondary school lunchrooms. They will describe social inclusion in these settings and the factors that shape it, as well as offer recommendations for enhancing peer relationships in middle and high schools.

Increasing Intersectionality in Special Education: A Conversation

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity

FORMAT: Panel

The importance of creating climates of understanding and inclusion is critical in education environments, but school practitioners typically do not know how to cultivate social equity or have the tools to increase awareness. Intersectionality, the study of how multiple identities intersect, has the potential to destabilize historically enforced systems of oppression—but this can only begin when school practitioners engage with intersectional concepts.

Students With Math Difficulty in Inclusive Settings: Guidance for Special and General Educators

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Many students with disabilities receive mathematics instruction in inclusive settings; special educators must be familiar with the pedagogical traditions, district initiatives, and common practices of general education mathematics classrooms. Special educators can support general educators in integrating evidence-based practices into instruction to best serve students with math difficulty (MD). Presenters review trends in mathematics instruction, current challenges, and proven practices.

Supporting Inclusive Practices and Supports for CLD Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity

TEACHING TOGETHER: Culturally and Linguistically Responsive Model of Inclusive PreK-Grade 12 Collaboration

The presentation showcases the key components, strategies, and results of the professional development model based on culturally and linguistically responsive pedagogy (CLRP). During training, preservice special education PreK-Grade 12 teacher participants co-planned, implemented, and evaluated CLRP-based collaborative activities. Qualitative and quantitative shifts in participants’ CLRP knowledge and skills are discussed.

_partnering with general educators to use evidence-based behavior strategies_

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Drawing on new, free resources created by Understood, the presenters of this session will model and explain how to partner with general educators to use evidence-based behavior management strategies for students with learning and thinking differences, like dyslexia and ADHD. In addition to understanding how academic challenges and behavior challenges can fuel each other, participants will learn how to uncover what drives student behavior and identify appropriate responses.

Teacher2Teacher: Harness Technology and Teach Growth Mindset to Improve Student Achievement

TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Special educators need to be proactive technology infusers. This session shares the results of an active learning center middle-school classroom program where students learn about growth mindset, harness the power of technology to access curriculum, set weekly personalized learning goals, and track their progress. Participants will gain dynamic tools to implement and a philosophical foundation for infusing technology and growth mindset into their special education programs.

CURRENT EVENTS: USING PODCASTS FOR INSTRUCTION, AND SUPPORTING STUDENT CIVIC ENGAGEMENT ON SOCIAL MEDIA

Social Media Use by Students With Disabilities: Supporting Effective Civic Engagement

As the ubiquity of social media use in political discourse rapidly expands, special educators and researchers must seriously contemplate how students with disabilities interface with social media. Which sites do students use? How can teachers scaffold instruction to support civic engagement? This presentation reviews research on social media applications and provides guidance for how to effectively support student use of social networking sites.

SPEDcasting: Creating and Using Podcasts for Student Engagement and Teacher Preparation

Podcasts are a popular medium for people on the go. Audio-recorded discussions between experts and a host provide topical access and insight. The medium’s format easily adapts to a classroom for instruction and assessment and incorporates elements of universal design for learning. In this demonstration, participants learn how to create and use podcasts in their K-12 classroom or teacher preparation program. Participants are encouraged to bring their own mobile devices.

Intensifying Mathematics Word Problem-Solving Interventions for Students With Mathematics Difficulties

SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation describes the unique features of three research-validated mathematics instructional interventions to improve the word problem-solving performance of students with mathematics difficulties, including those with learning disabilities. The presenters will discuss roadblocks to effective problem-solving instruction and present solutions for helping teachers support student learning.

The RESET Special Education Teacher Observation System: Improving Teacher Use of EBPs and Student Outcomes

SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents an in-depth look at the Recognizing Effective Special Education Teachers (RESET) observation system, designed to evaluate teachers’ ability to implement evidence-based practices (EBPs). The presenters employed an evidence-centered design framework, articulated the claims and inferences to be made with RESET, and collected evidence to evaluate the validity argument, including examining the relationship of a teacher’s performance on RESET with student outcomes.

❖ Parent Involvement in the Education of Secondary School English Learners With Disabilities

SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This secondary analysis of data from the National Longitudinal Transition Study 2012 indicates that involvement of parents of high school English learners with disabilities differed significantly from that of other parents, including being less likely to report several types of involvement. Learning outcomes include tools for engaging parents of this growing population, in an effort to provide equitable education opportunities.

The Effects of Pre-Session and Interspersed Attention on Disruptive Behaviors

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

For classroom teachers, students exhibiting disruptive or off-task behaviors can impede learning opportunities and create challenges. A pre-session and interspersed attention intervention provides students with attention in order to decrease attention-seeking or off-task behaviors. This poster presents the rationale for this intervention along with information on delivering it.

Family-Friendly Communication Via Authentic Assessment for Early Childhood Intervention Programs

SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Poster Session

CEC’s Division for Early Childhood (DEC) has identified 11 recommended practices for assessment, including that results should be ‘understandable and useful to families.’ Understanding a family’s cultural beliefs, values, communication needs, and priorities is vital to best serving each child. This session examines high-impact practices for meaningful and understandable assessment reports that facilitate goal planning and creating individualized interventions for children and their families.

Is There INjustice in the Justice System for Individuals With Intellectual Disability? An Examination of the Death Penalty in the United States

TOPIC: Public Policy
SECONDARY TOPIC: Maltreatment
FORMAT: Poster Session

When capital punishment is on the line, is it harder to prove an individual has intellectual disability (ID) in one state over another? The presenters of this poster synthesize data through a historical lens, demonstrating how ID definitions and burdens of proof outlined in state policies affect sentencing.

Roles and Training Needs of Paraprofessionals

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster shares the results of a survey study obtaining information about the roles and training needs of paraprofessionals in P-12 settings in the upper midwestern US. Results showed that half of the participants were likely to enroll in online para-to-teacher programs in the next 5 years for a teaching license, associate’s, or bachelor’s degree. Financial support would increase the likelihood of enrollment.

The Relationship Between Reading and Computer Science Programming for Elementary Students With and Without Disabilities

TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster shares findings of a correlational study examining the relationship between reading and computer science coding. Although preliminary research has demonstrated that performance on state reading tests is predictive of coding skills, to date, no studies have investigated the relationship between specific reading skills and coding. This study replicates the earlier study, and extends it by examining the relationship of sight word and nonsense word reading to coding.

Closing the Research-to-Practice Gap for Early Literacy

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session

Many early childhood teachers are not adequately trained in recommended practices for assistive technology (AT). Step Up AT for Early Literacy, a professional development resource, aims to close this research-to-practice gap using targeted coaching methods to improve learning outcomes for children with disabilities. Pilot results demonstrate a promising practice.

 Pie Free Appropriate Public Education: Employing a Modified Endrew Educational Benefit Standard

SECONDARY TOPIC: Accountability Systems for Students with Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

The Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) has been critical in ensuring a free appropriate public education (FAPE) to qualified students with disabilities. Three decades after the Rowley standard was established to guide courts to make decisions regarding FAPE, the Supreme Court decision in Endrew F. v. Douglas County School District (2017) further clarified the parameters of FAPE. This poster highlights case law employing the Endrew’s ruling and provides implications for practice.

Are Virtual Manipulatives More Effective than Physical Manipulatives in Increasing Math Fact Fluency for Students With LD?

TOPIC: STEM
SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Poster Session

Physical math manipulatives have been used for many years by educators as a best-practice intervention; teachers have started using virtual manipulatives in hopes to better engage and help struggling learners. This poster compares the effectiveness of using physical vs. virtual manipulatives on math fact fluency in students with learning disabilities. One take-away: Choosing the type of manipulatives should be determined based on each student’s cognitive and academic characteristics.

Literacy Practices for Young CLD Children at Risk for Emotional and Behavioral Disorders and Reading Disabilities

TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Young children from low socioeconomic status families at risk for emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD) and comorbid reading disabilities (RD) often require early literacy intervention. One challenge is that additional environmental supports are required to intervene effectively. This presentation provides recommendations for three evidence-based literacy strategies for students with or at risk of EBD and RD: adult-child shared reading storybooks, dialogic literacy-enriched play intervention.

TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Panel

The construct of specific learning disability (SLD) is once again under attack. This session will bring together members of the executive boards of DLD, CLD, and LDA. Panelists will share common elements across the missions of each organization, newly released joint principles in a national conversation surrounding SLD, and justify why SLD should continue to be part of the future of IDEA legislation.

Exhibitor Showcase: Helping Teens Master Social and Emotional Skills

FORMAT: Exhibitor Showcase Session

Many teens today report feeling isolated and disconnected from sources of support. This session focuses on accessible social emotional learning resources that can be incorporated into the classroom setting to positively support emotional health and promote the development of social skills for secondary and adult learners.

Let’s Talk About Sex! What Do We Know About Educating Young Adults with Developmental Disabilities?

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
FORMAT: Poster Session

It’s not always easy to talk about sex. Although linked to improved self-awareness and self-advocacy in sexual relationships, sex education is often overlooked for students with disabilities. This poster presentation shares the results of a systematic review of the literature on sex education for adolescents and young adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities, including current best practices and outcomes.

Audio and Video Prompting to Promote Vocational Independence of Students With ASD

SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presentation offers information and guidance on the implementation of audio and video prompting, two evidence-based interventions that can be used to teach vocational skills to students with autism spectrum disorder (ASD). The unique format allows students to have portable, individualized instruction, with minimal one-on-one guidance from an educator.

Using Technology to Self-Monitor: The I-Connect App

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presentation presents an overview of I-Connect, a self-monitoring mobile application that educators can use to increase on-task engagement in students with autism spectrum disorder (ASD), attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), and other learning differences. The poster includes a summary of I-Connect research studies and outcomes of the intervention. Attendees will have the opportunity to interact with the I-Connect app and ask questions.

Educating Diverse Refugee Children: A Call to Action
TOPIC: International Programs/Services
SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Poster Session

Turkey hosts the world’s largest population of refugees. Some 50% of refugee children may have a disability. Turkey’s experience educating refugee children can inform others; this poster shares a review of the literature examining Turkey’s responses to related challenges in attempting to educate all children and ties this to Western educational practice.

Person-Centered IEP Meetings: Enhancing the Participation of Students With Intellectual Disability
TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
FORMAT: Poster Session

Student participation in the IEP process results in increased confidence, self-determination, awareness, and ownership of goals and progress. High school students with intellectual disability (ID), however, are less likely to be involved in the IEP process, which in turn plays a role in poor postschool outcomes, compared to their peers without disabilities. This poster session shares strategies for modifying person-centered planning tools with visual support to enhance student involvement.

LEADER(S): Maureen Howard, George Mason University, Fairfax, VA

Abandoning Stereotypes: Early Literacy Learning for Students With Visual Impairments
TOPIC: Visual Impairments
FORMAT: Poster Session

Teacher candidates will present ways to develop the academic and functional literacy skills of students with visual impairments. Methods used to teach students with low vision and blindness will be coupled with demonstration, simulation, and face-to-face conversation in this interactive poster session.

LEADER(S): Deborah Bracke, Augustana College, Rock Island, IL

Culturally Responsive Pedagogy: Experiences of Preservice Early Childhood Special Education Teachers in Inclusive Classroom Settings
TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Poster Session

Culturally responsive pedagogy (CRP) studies have mostly centered around K-12 practices, with limited research in early childhood special education (ECSE). This poster presentation provides an overview of a CRP model in an ECSE setting. Attendees will learn key components of the CRP model that can be implemented in ECSE settings.

The Social Construction of Difference: Preservice Teachers’ Reflections on Equity, Racism, and the Teacher’s Role
TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster session presents the results of a mixed-methods examination of candidates’ (n=53) changes in definitions of equity and awareness of systemic racism during a university course. The presenters will discuss themes and candidates’ positionality in their reflections of color evasion that changed based on discussions and building awareness of the social construction of difference.

➤ Associations Between Rapid Naming, Inattention, and Word-Reading Fluency

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Poster Session

Children who are not able to easily recognize or retrieve words (sight word fluency, SWF) have difficulty with reading texts and with high levels of comprehension. Understanding the predictors of successful SWF may help classroom and resource teachers target children to better build their SWF. Two predictors examined in this poster are rapid naming skills and inattentive/hyperactive behaviors, specifically whether rapid naming predicts sight word fluency.

➤ Differentiated Instruction Practices for Writing

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

As many as 75% of students in public schools struggle with writing. These students’ challenges are often similar to those with disabilities, who have writing goals and objectives in their individualized education programs (IEPs). This poster presentation session offers classroom practices and strategy ideas for teachers, students, and parents to help manage writing instruction.

❖ A Second Chance: Changing the Reading Trajectory for High School Students with Behavioral Challenges

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

Reading difficulties correlate with negative outcomes such as higher school dropouts and incarceration, but secondary learners who struggle with reading (particularly students with emotional disturbances who exhibit challenging behaviors) rarely receive explicit intervention. This poster presents the results of a study on the effects of the REWARDS curriculum on the reading achievement for students in an alternative school placement. All students made gains and reported improved self-confidence.

❖ Preparing Preservice Teachers for Collaboration With Families of Students With Disabilities and English Language Learners

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents a collaboration of two courses, designed to examine (a) the effect of interview projects on special and general teacher candidates’ self-efficacy when collaborating with families of students with disabilities (SWDs) and English language learners (ELLs) and (b) effective collaboration strategies recommended by families of SWDs and ELLs.

❖ Parental Perceptions of Literacy: Children With Intellectual Disability

SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
FORMAT: Poster Session

In this poster session, the presenters will describe the results of a survey designed to capture parents’ perceptions related to their children’s current levels of literacy functioning, their own expectations related to their child’s literacy outcomes, and the types of instructional practices to which their children have been exposed in their education settings.

❖ Perspectives on School Readiness and School Adjustment: Parents, Preschool Teachers, and Professionals

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Poster Session

Family-school connection has been identified as the key relationship contributing to children’s successful transition, resulting in the positive impacts on school readiness. This poster presents the perspectives of parents and professionals on school readiness of Taiwanese young children with special education needs to attend regular elementary schools.

Assessment Data and Instructional Implementation for Primary Tier 2 Writing Interventions

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster shares how to use early literacy continuum (ELC) data to plan and implement writing interventions utilizing curriculum-based evaluation. A case study will be presented where data and instructional procedures are illustrated. Information regarding the administration and scoring of the ELC will be presented. Primary teachers are encouraged to attend.

Exploring the Number Line Assessment as an Early Numeracy Screener

SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster shares the results of two studies investigating the number line estimation task as a screener for students in kindergarten and first grade, along with a new number line screening measure in development. Discussion will center on critical mathematics screening content, resource allocation in school screening systems, and linkage of screeners to interventions.

Teacher Think-Aloud Scripts: Intersection of Explicit Instruction and CCSS for Mathematical Practice

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session

Integrating explicit instruction with mathematics instruction aligned with the Common Core State Standards for Mathematical Practice can be challenging for both experienced and novice special educators. The presenters of this poster suggest using teacher think-aloud scripts and show how this can be integrated in teacher education or professional development programs. Participants will have access to hands-on activities, including revising exemplar scripts and creating new ones.

Knowledge and Use of Evidence-Based Practices in Special Education: A Literature Review

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Poster Session

How well do professionals know and use evidence-based practices (EBPs)? More than 50 studies were identified that investigate and report on EBPs, but about half directly measure the knowledge of and use in special education. This poster presents the results and implications of a systematic literature review. An overview of the methods and measures used by researchers will also be provided.

Know Thyself: The Crucial Role of Self-Advocacy in Effective Transition Planning for Students With Intellectual Disability

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster will explore the role of self-advocacy in order to best prepare students with intellectual disability for post-secondary success. A successful transition using self-advocacy includes four crucial components: knowledge of self, knowledge of rights, communication, and leadership. Practitioners, family members, and self-advocates can glean practical and effective tools to promote self-advocacy in transition planning.

Performance Differences on Mathematics Vocabulary for English Learners and Non-English Learners

SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

To learn math, children must understand math vocabulary. The presenters of this session measured the math vocabulary performance of third graders. English learners (EL) with math difficulty (MD) experience lower performance than non-ELs with and without MD. They will demonstrate how to assess math vocabulary knowledge and discuss implications for instruction.

Drill and Practice Strategies to Develop Fluency With Basic Number Combinations

SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session provides participants with evidence-based drill and practice strategies interspersing known and unknown items to help students with mathematics difficulties develop fluency with basic number combinations. Fluency in this area helps to reduce the cognitive demand on working memory, allowing allocation of cognitive resources for more complex tasks. Modeling, increasing opportunity to respond, corrective feedback, and interspersing known and unknown items are effective practices.

Systematic Screening for Emotional and Behavioral Disorders in K-3 Settings

SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Barriers such as limited awareness and system-level support hinder uptake and implementation of schoolwide emotional and behavioral screening. In this session, the presenters will discuss the use of emotional and behavioral screening in K-3 settings and present recent validity evidence for use of the Systematic Screening for Behavior Disorders (SSBD).

Stakeholder Engagement Among State Special Education Agencies in Results-Driven Accountability Processes

SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This poster session presents research results relating to 50 state education agencies’ (SEA) implementation of the ‘stakeholder engagement’ policy tool as a response to the federal expectation of improving results for students with disabilities through state systemic improvement plans (SSIPs). The presentation focuses on five themes and a state leadership model for engaging stakeholders.

- Latino Families Speak Up: Realities and Expectations of Raising a Child With a Disability

TOPIC: International Programs/Services
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Oftentimes countries may not have the support systems that families of children with disabilities are looking for. This session presents the findings of a study that looked at the perceptions and experiences of Latino families raising children with disabilities and the effects of a lack of support.

- Developing Crisis Plans to Support Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Physical/Health/Multiple Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Although educators use research-based strategies to support the development and success of students with disabilities, this same detailed planning is not always carried through to support students during school crises. Students with disabilities need research-based strategies in order to survive. Presenters address the specific needs of students with disabilities pertaining to staying safe in school crises and the importance of documents such as individual emergency and lockdown plans (IELPs).

- Bridging the Gap: Mental Health Services for Individuals With ASD

FORMAT: Panel

Although individuals with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) suffer a higher rate of anxiety, stress, depression, and suicide than the general population, these conditions often go undiagnosed and untreated. This panel represents interdisciplinary perspectives (a special educator, a school counselor, a community counselor) and will focus on the characteristics, needs, and challenges of individuals with ASD and present effective intervention strategies.

- Training Preservice General Education Teachers to Collect Accurate ABC Data

SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

General educators may be involved in the functional behavior assessment (FBA) process via indirect or descriptive assessments, such as collecting antecedent-behavior-consequence (ABC) data. Providing instruction on this skill during preservice years can be beneficial to promote their involvement in the FBA process. This presentation shares results from a study evaluating the effects of training on preservice teachers’ ability to collect ABC data.

STRATEGIES TO SERVE STUDENTS WHO ARE DEAFBLIND

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

- Determining a Tactile Threshold For Learners With Deafblindness: Teachers’ Communication Modality Choices
  When working with learners with deafblindness, teachers must not only consider a students’ receptive modality, but also be modeling potential expressive modalities that can be used by the student in the future. Classroom videos will illustrate variations in teacher decision making and how they relate to students’ levels of dual sensory loss, communication, and mobility.
  LEADER(S): Loretta Brady, Hunter College, CUNY

- TDB or Not TDB, That is the Question: Evaluating the Teacher of Students With DeafBlindness Pilot at the Texas DeafBlind Project
  The Texas DeafBlind project launched a pilot program to train teachers of students who are DeafBlind (TDB) in their local districts. The goal of this pilot was to improve students’ academic and social growth and teachers’ instructional delivery, and develop district capacity for implementing the TDB model of service delivery for students who are deafblind. The study employs a mixed-methods evaluation research approach to examine the third cohort of the TDB pilot program.
  LEADER(S): Adam Graves, Texas School for the Blind and Visually, Austin

- Teaching Children With Deafblindness Symbol Use With the System of Least Prompts
  This presentation shares the results of a study evaluating the effectiveness of the system of least prompts in teaching symbols for communicative purposes to children with deafblindness and multiple disabilities. This study extends the literature on the effectiveness of the system of least prompts to include individuals with dual sensory impairments.

Reducing Disproportionality in Special Education and Exclusionary Discipline

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Panel

Disproportionate representation of students of color in exclusionary discipline and in special education is a significant issue facing schools in the United States. Members of this panel will discuss research-based approaches for reducing disproportionality, including policy, intervention, and training at the pre- and in-service levels.

Music Interventions to Support Social Development in Early-Childhood Inclusive Classrooms

During this session, participants will learn how to design music interventions for the early-childhood inclusive classroom to support the development of social skills for all students. Skills include joint attention, turn taking, greetings, and responses. Participants will be introduced to relevant social development theories, research, and music-based resources.

PRESENTER(S): Kayla Hughes, Music Together Worldwide, Hopewell, NJ

Will You Please Be My Partner? Developing Social Skills and Positive Behaviors Through Folk Dancing

Folk dance is an arts-based and meaningful activity to practice positive social skills and behaviors. Through this activity, students also practice eye contact, joint attention, theory of mind, and reciprocation, working together as a group to create the overall experience. Folk-dance clubs provide lifelong social and movement experiences for those with and without disabilities. Participants will be dancing and learning the techniques during this active and fun presentation.

Principals in Inclusive Schools: How School Leaders Make the Difference

SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Principals receive very limited professional development about special education and how to lead schools that serve students with disabilities. Despite this lack of formal training, many leaders effectively use best practices for inclusive education and prioritize the needs of students with disabilities in the inclusive classroom. This session will explore what makes the difference in leaders who work to understand and implement best inclusive practices, as well as implications for practice.

❖ Does KinderTEK iPad Math Help Kindergartners With Different Levels of Math Difficulties?

SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The KinderTEK iPad math program provides differentiated instruction to students learning, practicing, or struggling with early math concepts. The presenters will share KinderTEK’s evidence-based instructional design and customization features that support student engagement and learning, along with results from initial cohorts of a randomized control efficacy trial. Attendees will learn key features to look for in educational apps for the classroom and best practices for implementing technology.

❖ Literacy Professional Development and Elementary Student Reading: Collaborative Efforts in Research, Policy, and Practice

FORMAT: Panel

Most attempts to improve grade-level reading often narrowly focus on reading instruction and outcomes during third grade, although a larger focus is needed, especially for children reading below grade level. Individual school districts often use professional development (PD) in reading instruction for teachers. This panel presents findings from two evidence-based PD programs; represent research, policy, and practice perspectives; and discuss how collaborative efforts can improve student reading.

❖ DCDT’s National Certification in Transition Education: Preparing Transition Professionals

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

CEC’s Division of Career Development and Transition’s transition standards for educating professionals in the field of transition serve as the basis for providing national recognition to university programs that demonstrate the mastery of these competencies with their graduates. This interactive session explores the role and current status of DCDT’s National Certification in Transition Education for the preparation of high-quality transition specialists.

bies Upgrade Your Performance: Effective Soft-Skill Instruction for Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation provides results from three studies investigating the effects of UPGRADE Your Performance on the employment soft skills of students with disabilities across school and community job sites. Presenters will discuss implications for practitioners, including programming for generalization, utilizing technology for practitioner and student data collection, and access to curriculum resources to support implementation of UPGRADE Your Performance.

Explicit Instruction Plus Multimedia Delivery: Improving Adolescent Students’ Vocabulary Performance

SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

In this session, learners will gain familiarity with content acquisition podcasts (CAPs), a multimedia tool called. CAPs are easy to create and marry explicit instruction with multimedia design principles to teach key terms and concepts within content area courses. Samples and production steps will be provided.

Use Data based Individualization to Improve High School Students’ Computation and Problem-Solving Performance

SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session shares the results of a study examining the effects of intensifying math intervention through data-based individualization (DBI) on the computation and problem-solving performance of high school students with disabilities. Results showed student computation and problem-solving performance, as measured by the dependent measures, improved significantly for all three participants.

GIFTED STUDENT PROGRAMMING AND SERVICES

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

Gifted students differ from their same-age peers in four significant ways. The presenters will share the keys to understanding giftedness, which provide the foundation for how (and why it is important) for schools to differentiate for gifted and talented students. The discussion will focus on four key attributes and how they relate to strategies that meet gifted students’ needs.

LEADER(S): Lynette Breedlove, Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green

Acceleration is an intervention that moves students through the curriculum at a faster rate than typical. Though supported by extension research, many myths about acceleration exist and it remains an under-utilized instructional strategy. For students with exceptional cognitive ability, demonstrated high performance, and motivation, acceleration can ensure access to rigorous curriculum and appropriate levels of challenge.

LEADER(S): Wendy Behrens, Minnesota Department of Education, St. Paul

Leadership for Gifted Programs: Development, Implementation, and Enhancement

This presentation focuses on enhancing the knowledge, skills, and abilities of participants with leadership responsibilities or who are interested in gifted program leadership. Participants in this presentation will be able to enhance or develop strategies to establish, implement, and enhance gifted program services.

HARMONIZING FAMILY, STUDENT, AND TEACHER ADVOCACY

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships

A Working Triad: Teacher, Parent, Student, Together as 1-In It to Win It

Positive student outcomes in academic achievement and social-emotional behavior can be attributed to successful teacher-family-school partnerships. Although all voices should have equal input in this collaborative effort, most times the student does not have a voice. In this session, hear varying perspectives (teacher, parent, student) on this working triad partnership: personal struggles and victories, tips for advocacy, and strategies for working with students with exceptionalities.

LEADER(S): Courtney Cruz, Youngstown State University, OH

Connections Between Family, Teacher, and Student Advocacy: A Universally Designed General Education Classroom

Over 60% of students with disabilities spend 80% of the day in general education classrooms. General education teachers support students in becoming fluid with accommodations, design flexible curriculum, and collaborate with families to increase learning. The presenters will provide solutions from a parent center, an accessibility center, and a teacher to implement supports.

▌ Preventing Job-Related Stress: Extinguishing the Burnout Cascade

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Occupational stress for education professionals is a documented problem and affects the quality of services they provide for students. The presentation provides an overview of the components and predictors of the burnout process; participants will learn about strategies to prevent and ameliorate the influence of occupation-related stress on teaching performance.

▌ Self-Monitoring the Effects of Behavior Interventions in the Classroom

FORMAT: Demonstration

Although special educators identify professional development related to behavior management as a high-priority need, high-quality PD is often time- and resource-intensive. Self-monitoring (SM) is an alternative to traditional professional development models: educators record their behavior, during ongoing instructional routines. This demonstrate teaches educators how to use SM to improve their use of evidence-based behavior interventions.

▌ Online Professional Learning to Support Students Who Struggle With Writing: Technology + Writing Strategies + Progress Monitoring

FORMAT: Demonstration

Join this session and explore a free, online, research-based, auto-scored progress monitoring tool as well as a professional learning suite that supports the teachers of students who score below grade level in writing. Supporting better utilization of one-to-one technology and evidence-based writing strategies, participants will learn from field-based educators. Participants will be able to practice with the progress monitoring tool and explore the professional learning website and lessons.

Exhibitor Showcase: Increasing Accessibility and Fostering Inclusive Classrooms With Free Tools From Microsoft Education

FORMAT: Exhibitor Showcase Session

Students with learning disabilities are often at a disadvantage from their peers when it comes to accessing curriculum and engaging in classroom content. Microsoft's new broad set of assistive technology capabilities ensure that students of all abilities can engage, personalize learning and demonstrate cognitive abilities to effectively participate in their learning community. This session will discuss what inclusive classrooms and employing accessibility look like from the standpoint of reading, writing, math, and communication. The presenter will be sharing examples from Microsoft Education's free accessibility suite of tools.

Effective Use of Language Prompts During Shared Book Reading

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of a study focusing on how tutors’ use of language prompts during shared book reading relates to language and emergent literacy skills for children with autism spectrum disorder (ASD). The frequency of tutors’ use of completion prompts, a type of contextualized language prompt, used during book reading task was uniquely related to outcomes in phonological awareness. Results have implications for the types of support that tutors provide.

Screening and Progress Monitoring Self-Regulation Skills

TOPIC: Assessment
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster session presents initial research efforts to create reliable and valid screening and progress monitoring tools that assess a student’s risk for poor self-regulation. These measures are based on a research-based definition of self-regulation: A self-regulated learner is connected, self-aware, self-determined, strategic, and resilient. Because self-regulation is a multicomponent and dynamic construct, tools are designed for daily use and are specific to the learning context.

Teaching History and Social Studies to Struggling Learners and Students With LD

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Panel

The Common Core State Standards call for literacy to be a shared enterprise across all academic subjects. The National Council for Social Studies’ C3 framework envisions students as critical readers who are able to write cogent arguments. How can struggling learners reach ambitious social studies goals? This panel provides some answers, drawing on reading and writing research.

Structured Literacy for Students With Dyslexia and Related Language-Learning Disabilities

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Structured literacy (SL) addresses the learning needs of children with dyslexia, enriching all students’ knowledge in a way that is explicit, powerful, and engaging. In this session, professional learning instructors demonstrate the application of SL for general and special education teachers who differentiate instruction to reach and support all learners.

Increasing Motivation Among Students Who Demonstrate Challenging Behavior: Strategies to Increase Student Engagement

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Students with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD) often have academic deficits and display challenging behavior in the classroom. Although these behaviors might seem to indicate students lack motivation, their behavior may be a response to aversive stimuli (ineffective academic instruction or academic tasks perceived as being too challenging). The presenters of this session will review relevant research regarding motivation among students with EBD and share practical strategies.

Application of the Condition-Learner-Behavior-Criteria Format to IFSP Outcomes: Suggestions for Practitioners and Families

SECONDARY TOPIC: Accountability Systems for Students with Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Early interventionists and families share the responsibility for collecting present level of development (PLOD) data and writing outcomes for individualized family service plans (IFSPs). However, these statements often are written in ways that make them difficult to interpret and measure. The presenters of this session will introduce the condition-learner-behavior-criteria (CLBC) and highlight three key questions to guide professionals as they write IFSP outcome statements aligned to PLOD data.

Using the Interview Informed Synthesized Contingency Analysis (IISCA) to Address Challenging Behavior

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation shares the results of a study investigating how the Interview Informed Synthesized Contingency Analysis (IISCA) influences treatments for challenging behavior in adolescents and adults with autism spectrum disorder (ASD). Results suggest that the IISCA is a promising way to decrease challenging behavior and increase the social engagement of this population.

BALANCING THE POWER: HELPING PARENTS PARTICIPATE EFFECTIVELY IN IEP MEETINGS

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

Improving Parent Satisfaction at IEP Meetings

A nationwide survey on parent perceptions of individualized education program (IEP) team member dynamics revealed that a majority of parents perceive some level of power imbalance. Follow-up qualitative interviews reveal the complexity of IEP team relationships and effects on parent perceptions of power. Presenters will share suggestions to improve parent-school relationships.

LEADER(S): Bekis Choiseul-Praslin, University of Oklahoma, Norman

Rethinking Parent Participation in IEP Meetings

Parents often report high levels of dissatisfaction with individualized education program (IEP) meetings. Do you go beyond the IEP form when inviting active parent participation? At this session, attendees will learn how the structure of IEP meetings might hinder parent participation and ways to maximize parent involvement on education teams. Presenters will review potential pitfalls in the IEP process, and proactive strategies to capitalize on parents’ knowledge of their children.

Promoting Equity-Literate Practices Among Preservice Special Educators

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster session presents the results of a qualitative action research project exploring the effects of an equity literacy intervention on preservice special educators’ culturally responsive practices. Participants had few prior experiences outside homogeneous communities. Participants engaged in a multisite intervention which combined theoretical foundations, self-assessment, and field-based environmental analysis and construction in order to increase cultural responsiveness.

Investigating Teachers’ Spatial Thinking Skills in K12 Classroom Settings

TOPIC: STEM
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents findings from a spatial thinking professional development intervention. Teachers completed a 4-week unit, with pre/post measures, in comparison to a control group. Artifact analysis of teacher exemplars by content areas revealed significant associations between spatial thinking types and disciplinary content areas. Instructional and research implications are presented.

Providing Every Single Student Access: Lessons from Teachers and Principals in Comprehensive Public High Schools

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

Reversing the statistic for non-completion of high school by students with high-incidence disabilities should be a paramount concern for administrators and general educators. With the rate being twice that of the general population, measures and mindsets need to change to address this holistically. This poster reviews the results of a qualitative study examining how Portland-area high schools leveraged new thinking around a rigorous curriculum to reset teacher mindsets toward accessibility.

Supporting Rural Preservice Teachers’ edTPA Success Online

SECONDARY TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster session provides attendees with information on how to prepare graduates seeking initial license online in rural settings. These students are required to complete the edTPA portfolio, which can present particular challenges. The session presents a guided structure for autonomous and independent performance work of teacher candidates to fulfill the performance-based assessments required of edTPA (e.g., coursework, field and practicum experiences, mentorship, supervision).

I-CARE Menu of Tiered Self-Care Strategies

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

Education and human services personnel (EHSP) experience occupational stress due to job demands. Effectively fulfilling their job responsibilities requires physical, mental, and emotional stamina. Daily exposure to stress places EHSPs at risk of burnout. To prevent burnout and promote self-efficacy in job performance, EHSPs may benefit from worksite-based self-care supports. This poster session describes how to apply I-CARE, a tiered framework to address EHSP self-care needs.

READING INTERVENTIONS FOR CHILDREN WITH SENSORY LOSS

TOPIC: Visual Impairments

Shared Reading for Children With Visual Impairments

This presentation shares the results of a survey of home literacy experiences of children with visual impairments, and highlights successful parent/child dyad shared reading practices identified through observations. Identifying and implementing successful shared practices for children with visual impairments has the potential to improve reading and language outcomes for these children. Participants will learn about these practices and share ideas for educating and engaging parents.

MODERATOR: Michelle Quakenbush, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley

MENTORING PARAEDUCATORS TO MAXIMIZE EDUCATIONAL BENEFIT

Being a special educator can be extremely rewarding, but the demands can be overwhelming if faced alone. Well-trained classroom staff can maximize both instruction and management of students with special education needs. Optimizing the skills of paraeducators may help to improve students’ educational outcomes. This multi-presentation session provides recommendations for effective use of paraeducators as members of an instructional team.

Building a Legacy: Building, Growing, and Sustaining a Strong Community Employer Partnership

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

Strong community partnerships are developed over time, not made overnight. This poster presentation highlights the strategies, challenges, and successes of developing a work-based learning community partnership between school-based transition programs and a large urban medical system. The presenter will focus on recommendations for developing similar partnerships in other communities.

Academic and Professional Guidance Technology for Tertiary Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Poster Session

Academic and professional guidance for tertiary students with disabilities presented a challenge to Brazilian universities and its labor market. This poster session relates how a multidisciplinary team of 20 tertiary students with disabilities and 20 professional Brazilian employers developed a technology to support tertiary students with disabilities and opportunities, within a biopsychological and lifelong learning perspective.

Culturally Responsive Teaching Efficacy of Inclusive Preschool Teachers in Taiwan

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of an action-research study investigating the process of practicing culturally responsive teaching (CRT) efficacy in inclusive education for young children with disabilities. The study analyzed preschool teachers’ CRT efficacy and educational quality in inclusive settings. Further implications will be discussed.

LEADER(S): Szu-Yin Chu, National Tsing Hua University, Taiwan

Powerful Intervention Models for Struggling Readers

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster describes several intervention models to assist teachers in implementing reading instruction for struggling readers. A review of the current research supporting these interventions, feedback from teachers using these models, and implications for teacher preparation are provided.

LEADER(S): Vivian Gonsalves, University of Florida, Gainesville
PRESENTER(S): Holly Lane, University of Florida, Gainesville; Christine Woods, University of Florida, Gainesville; Rachel Kaplan, University of Florida, Gainesville; Valentina Contesse, University of Florida, Gainesville

Using Consult Minutes to Digitally Support Assistive Technology Integration With Google Classroom

TOPIC: Visual Impairments
SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Poster Session

Creating device- and student-specific Google Classroom environments to deliver consultative services is a way to lean on collaborative research. Through this restructured service-delivery model, low-incidence service providers can reach more sites while improving the quality of contact with sites and through that bolster outcomes for students with low-incidence disabilities.

LEADER(S): Bryan Moles, University of Illinois at Chicago/Chicago Public Schools

3:30–4:15 PM  SESSION: 351
ROOM: POSTER 10, HALL E

In-Ear Coaching for Preservice Early Childhood Special Education Teachers

TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of research exploring preservice early childhood special education (ECSE) teachers’ implementation of evidence-based practices (EBPs) in their teaching practicum. Utilizing Bluetooth technology, iPads, and Zoom, coaches delivered immediate feedback to teachers in real time. Data was collected on students’ implementation of EBPs, which drove debriefing sessions and future goal setting. Participants will learn a systematic process for in-ear coaching.

LEADER(S): Whitney Idol, Radford University, VA

3:30–4:15 PM  SESSION: 352

UDL and SDI: Intersections and Connections

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Poster Session

Specially designed instruction (SDI) and universal design for learning (UDL) have natural intersections that can, when understood, provide equitable access to learning for students with disabilities in the general education classroom. This poster presentation will guide participants in exploring those intersections and making connections that can be shared and applied with others.

3:30–4:15 PM  SESSION: 353
ROOM: POSTER 12, HALL E

Effects of Performance Feedback on Teachers’ Rates of Behavior-Specific Praise

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Poster Session

The presenters of this poster will share evidence from three case studies demonstrating the effectiveness of using performance feedback to increase teacher use of behavior-specific praise (BSP) in inclusive and small-group settings. Participants will learn how to use performance feedback to increase the use of BSP and other low-intensity strategies.

LEADER(S): Katherine Arrayan, Ogden Elementary School, Vancouver, WA

Predictors of Stress Among Parents of Adolescents With Emotional and Behavioral Difficulties

SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of a study examining several child- and family-related variables as predictors of parenting stress among 626 parents of adolescents with emotional and behavioral difficulties. Regression analyses indicated that family income level, parental education level, and parenting practices were significant predictors of parenting stress. Implications for teachers will be discussed.

- Effective Elements of Parent-Implemented Interventions on Early Childhood Literacy Skills

TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention

SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships

FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents research on the effectiveness of parent-implemented (PI) interventions on early childhood literacy skills. Results indicated that PI interventions were successful for young children across studies that focused on alphabetic knowledge, print concepts, phonological awareness, and language skills.

LEADER(S): Erin Anderson, University of Washington, Seattle

- I-CARE: A Self-Care Strategy for Staff in Alternative Educational Settings

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation

SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders

FORMAT: Poster Session

Staff in alternative educational settings frequently experience occupational stress, burnout, and secondary traumatic stress. Improving self-care practices can improve staff well-being. The presenters of this poster used the I-CARE strategy to increase self-care practices among staff in an alternative educational setting. The strategy helped improve self-care use and improved staff’s overall well-being.

- Retaining Preservice Special Education Teachers: Making Connections and Providing Supports

SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision

FORMAT: Poster Session

Retaining special education preservice teacher candidates is an important goal for teacher educators. This poster highlights an innovative 1-credit undergraduate course connecting teacher candidates with personnel, supports, requirements, and activities at the program, department, and university levels. Research regarding its success and tips for implementation will be shared.

LEADER(S): Gregory Conderman, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb

- Building the Foundation for Meaningful Interactions Between Educators and Students

SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention

FORMAT: Poster Session

To promote generalized improvements in social communication, educators and related service providers are encouraged to create and capitalize on opportunities for targeting skills during typical activities. This poster highlights how adults can monitor their own responsive behaviors, as well as successfully select naturalistic language interventions for children.

- The Effects of Evidence-Based Funding on Special Education Teacher Employment

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation

FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster session focuses on the effect of the Illinois evidence-based funding (EBF) model on services for students with disabilities. EBF calculations dictate the number of special education teachers required for a district based on total enrollment; the implementation of EBF influences the number of special education teachers employed. The session introduces a longitudinal study comparing employment data prior to and following EBF implementation.

Mental Health Issues in Schools: Knowledge and Skills of School Personnel

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Poster Session

With the current focus in schools on the mental health needs of students and supports available, researchers wanted to identify the perceived knowledge and skills of current school personnel. Results from a quantitative survey submitted by over 500 administrators, teachers, and other school professionals in one state will be shared.

Using STEM/STEAM and UDL to Support Children With Disabilities

TOPIC: STEM
SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Poster Session

Why are science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) and universal design for learning (UDL) critical in teaching students in early childhood with diverse needs? The use of STEM and UDL introduces ways to make learning more approachable and applicable. This poster shares ways to help students with special needs in the early childhood environment, making learning a realization for them. STEM and UDL provide a means for young children to learn with diverse, hands-on approaches.

Beyond the IHP: Supporting Kids With Bleeding Disorders in the Classroom

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

Many students with chronic illnesses who have an individualized health plan (IHP) to address medical emergencies need support beyond the IHP. Bleeding disorders affect a student’s cognitive ability and academic performance, as well as have the psychosocial effects with lifelong implications. Concerns about disclosure and social stigma can keep families from seeking support, but when given the knowledge and tools, teachers are in a position to have the greatest positive impact.

An Integrated Behavior Support and Teacher Coaching System for Early Childhood Settings

TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster describes a multi-year project to develop and evaluate a web-based, integrated behavior support and teacher coaching tool for early childhood settings using a mixed-methods research design. The technology tool guides team-based creation and implementation of individualized behavior supports for children who engage in persistent, challenging behaviors.

Leader Identity Development in Elementary School Gifted and Talented Education Teachers: A Pilot Study

FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of a study exploring the ways elementary-level gifted and talented program (GT) teachers understand leadership and the ways they perceive themselves in the domain of leadership. What is the relationship between leadership strengths and leadership perceptions? What commonalities exist between teacher leader identity development pathways and leaders’ strengths?

Vocabulary Interventions for Students With EBD: State of the Evidence

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

Students with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD) are increasingly placed in inclusive classrooms where a well-developed vocabulary is essential to success and instruction is based on college and career readiness standards. This poster suggests strategies for improving vocabulary (morphology and concept mapping) and recommendations for future research. Practitioners are urged to embed behavioral supports (self-monitoring, praise, corrective feedback) in their vocabulary interventions.

Are you ready to build your leadership skills but are not sure how to begin?

LEADERSHIP! If you are considering getting more involved in leadership through any venue: your university, district, school, or consulting, this session is for you. Consider building your skills by becoming a CEC leader. Through this interactive session, you will learn about CEC leadership opportunities at the local, state/or provincial, special interest division, and international levels and develop your personal leadership plan. Turn your commitment to students with disabilities and gifts/talents into action by realizing your leadership potential and using your strengths to lead students and colleagues. Presented by the CEC Leadership Development Committee.

ROOM: A105

DLD Showcase: Learning Disabilities: Foundational Principles of Practice

FORMAT: Panel

In this session, past presidents of CEC’s Division for Learning Disabilities will discuss: What is a learning disability (LD)? How is specially designed instruction different from ‘special education lite’ (i.e., accommodations)? What are the opportunities and challenges associated with LD research? What are strategic ways to advocate for the needs of students with LD?
LEADER(S): Kristin Sayeski, University of Georgia, Athens
PRESENTER(S): John Wills Lloyd, University of Virginia, Charlottesville; Charles Hughes, Pennsylvania State University, University Park; David Chard, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, TX; Rollanda O’Connor, University of California, Riverside

ROOM: B116

What Every Aspiring Special Education Administrator Needs to Know

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
FORMAT: Panel

Do you know what it takes to be an effective special education teacher leader or administrator? Learn about the exciting career paths open to effective leaders, how to enhance your leadership skills, and the diverse roles and responsibilities that challenge and reward strong leaders in special education.
LEADER(S): Gary Myrah, Wisconsin Council of Administrators of Special Services, Madison

Program Chair Featured: Exceptional Lives, Exceptional Stories

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Panel

The panel includes Yes I Can! Award recipients and their families. Session facilitators will lead discussions surrounding life with a disability, using structured questions as well as those from the audience. In closing, facilitators will summarize insights gained from discussions. The session incorporates time for informal conversations with the panelists.

SELF-DETERMINATION AND ADVOCACY DEAF/HH

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

 Assertiveness Take Practice: Summer Camps That Teach Self-Advocacy

The presenters started two summer camps focused on self-advocacy for students who are deaf or hard of hearing. Programs were sponsored by a university clinic and a local school district. The rationale for these programs, the self-advocacy activities used, and results from pre/post student outcome measures will be shared.

LEADER(S): Brittany Dorn, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley
PRESENTER(S): Kaitlyn Millen, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley

 Bridging the Gap Between College Student and Master Deaf Educator

The gap between college student and master teacher is tremendous, and it is not realistic to expect that a single program (pre- or post-service) can effectively provide the diversity of training necessary for increasing the self-efficacy of educators to improve the educational outcomes of students who are deaf and hard of hearing.

LEADER(S): Susie Tiggs, Region 11 Education Service Center, White Settlement, TX

 Building a Foundation: Measuring Self-Determination in Adolescents Who Are Deaf/Hard of Hearing

Self-determination is a predictor of success for students, including those who are deaf or hard of hearing (DHH). What are these students’ typical strengths and needs? Approximately 180 adolescents who are DHH completed the new American Sign Language (ASL) version of the Self-Determination Inventory. Results from the analysis of scores will inform how teachers and administrators can tailor interventions to unique needs across disability categories.

LEADER(S): Kaitlyn Millen, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley

9:45–10:45 AM • SESSION: 371 • ROOM: A107

Teacher2Teacher: Mindfulness-Based Stress Reduction Strategies in the Classroom

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Mindfulness is an evidence- and research-based method that increases positive social-emotional skills for students with disabilities: emotional regulation, increased focus, longer attention span, reduced rumination, receptivity to new ideas, reduced stress and anxiety, more thoughtful reactions to stimuli, and better self-control. The presenters will provide an overview of specific practices, including mindful breathing, the mindful pause, and mindful stretching (yoga). When these strategies are explicitly taught, students can generalize them to other parts of their lives. This session will also provide teachers with a set of easy-to-implement resources and handouts.

LEADER(S): Jessica Rusinovich, Capistrano Unified School District, CA
PRESENTER(S): Mary Lengel, Spectrum Schools, CA

9:45–10:45 AM • SESSION: 372 • ROOM: B111

Linking Emotional Intelligence and Social Interactions: The Impact of an Emotional Intelligence Curriculum

TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Panel

This panel presentation focuses on the social and behavioral impact of an emotional intelligence (EI) curriculum comprising the RULER, visible thinking, and global thinking routines on pre-kindergarten students with and without disabilities, their families, and instructional staff. The (EI) curriculum, research design, and longitudinal data will be discussed.

LEADER(S): Andrea Adelman, Florida International University, Miami
PRESENTER(S): Daniela Foerch, Florida International University, Miami

9:45–10:45 AM • SESSION: 373 • ROOM: B112

Opportunities to Learn Instructional and Collaborative High-Leverage Practices: Special Education Teacher Candidates’ Experiences in Preparation

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation focuses on special education teaching candidates’ (SETCs) opportunities to learn high-leverage instructional and collaborative practices. Drawing on surveys and interviews collected across six universities, SETCs reported extensive opportunities to learn instructional practice, but fewer opportunities for collaborative practice. This points to a need to examine the pedagogies used to prepare SETCs for collaborative roles. Practical tools will be provided.

LEADER(S): Hannah Mathews, Boston University, MA
PRESENTER(S): Wendy Rodgers, University of Nevada, Las Vegas

▼ Building a Culture of Self-Advocacy and Self-Determination for Students and With Students
TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A
One school district in Texas, recognizing that throughout its PK-12 system students were not able to articulate their learning goals or specialized needs, set out to change the culture of its organization and focus on building the capacity of students through self-advocacy and self-determination. This session presents how understanding student needs in these areas can lead to the effective development of programs to support them.

▼ Using CRA to Teach Algebra to Students with Developmental Disabilities: Teaching Problem-Solving and Reasoning Skills
TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A
Participants attending this session will learn how to teach basic algebraic concepts to students with developmental disabilities by implementing the concrete-representational-abstract (CRA) technique. The presenters will share six different programs that incorporate the use of hands-on activities for developing strategic competence for recognizing and generating equivalent forms for simple algebraic expressions and solving linear equations for promoting adaptive reasoning skills.
LEADER(S): Joseph Sencibaugh, Webster University, St. Louis, MO
9:45–10:45 AM SESSION: 376 ROOM: B115
▼ Collaborating to Improve Augmentative and Alternative Communication for Learners With ASD
TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A
Special educators often collaborate with speech-language pathologists to provide augmentative and alternative communication (AAC) interventions to students with autism spectrum disorder (ASD). However, collaboration that results in measurable and timely student benefits can be challenging. The presenters of this session will share a step-by-step model for collaboration that ensures effective AAC interventions for students with ASD.
LEADER(S): Heather Forbes, University of Kansas, Lawrence
PRESENTATION(S): Jenee Vickers Johnson, University of Kansas, Lawrence; Jason Travers, University of Kansas, Lawrence
9:45–10:45 AM SESSION: 377 ROOM: B117
▼ Special Education Leadership: Strategies for Success
TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
SECONDARY TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A
Special education administrators hold one of the most difficult yet impactful of all administrative positions. The most effective special education leaders are able to keep student need, supervision and development of program, and relationships with stakeholders at the forefront, while still managing the intricacies of legal compliance. Participants will learn key skills, collaborative strategies, and structures which will support their success as an administrator in our ever-changing field.
LEADER(S): Nora Mazzone, Mamaroneck Union Free School District, NY
PRESENTATION(S): Jennifer Monaco, Mamaroneck Union Free School District, NY
9:45–10:45 AM SESSION: 378 ROOM: B118
▼ Supporting Availability for Learning for Students With Multiple Disabilities Including DeafBlindness: Student-Centered Assessment and Intervention
TOPIC: Visual Impairments
SECONDARY TOPIC: Physical/Health/Multiple Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A
Children and youth with multiple disabilities, including those who are deafblind, often have complex physical, sensory, cognitive/developmental, and health challenges which affect their ‘availability for learning’—a term that refers to the biobehavioral states of arousal necessary to process information and experiences. This session provides an overview of the effect of multiple disabilities and deafblindness on availability for learning, and an updated approach to biobehavioral assessment.
LEADER(S): Christopher Russell, New York Deaf-Blind Collaborative, Queens

Integrating Social-Emotional Learning With Literacy Instruction for Young CLD Children At Risk for EBD and Comorbid Reading Disabilities

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Children from culturally and linguistically diverse (CLD) backgrounds who are at risk for disabilities often experience school adjustment difficulties during the transition from preschool to elementary school. This session shares research investigating the effects of integrating social-emotional learning (SEL) with early literacy instruction for children at heightened risk for developing emotional and behavior disorders (EBD) and/or reading disabilities (RD) to improve school adjust outcomes.

Teacher2Teacher: Limiting High School Transitions to Support Students' Building of Lifelong Skills

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

At Evergreen High School, four teachers—a special education teacher, an intervention teacher, a math teacher, and an English teacher—support the same students across two class periods in the school day. During this time, students learn reading, writing, math, and executive functioning skills using a variety of co-teaching practices to support all learners. Participants will learn about the success of this use of resources for students and discuss collaborative practices that support staff members’ alignment with a vision.

Leveraging Two: Co-Teachers Increase High-Leverage Practice Use Through Reciprocal Peer Coaching

SECONDARY TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents the results of a study investigating the effects of co-teachers utilizing reciprocal peer coaching with self-graphing and goal setting to increase their use of high-leverage practices (HLPs) in their collaborative elementary classroom. A description of the program and results of the study will be provided. Participants will discuss the effective application of HLPs in collaborative settings and the significance of utilizing reciprocal peer coaching with co-teachers.

Building Capacity and Empowering Culturally Responsive Inclusive Practices Through Changemaking in the U.S. and South Africa

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TOPIC: International Programs/Services
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Join the presenters of this session to discuss ways to build culturally responsive inclusive practices through empathy and reflective processes. PK-12 educators teaching all learners from the U.S. and South Africa worked collaboratively using the changemaking process to address inequities in education. Educators framed ideas to ignite innovative inclusive practices to support diverse learners around the world. This presentation reviews the process and provides educators tools for implementation.

Maximizing PLAAFPs, the Launch Pad of the IEP

TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Present levels of academic achievement and functional performance (PLAAFPs) serve as the foundation of the annual goals and services written into an individualized education program (IEP). This session focuses on the selection, administration, and interpretation of assessments to write PLAAFPs. Well-written PLAAFPs permit educators to develop ambitious annual goals and the identification of appropriate special and related services based on the unique needs of each child.

Bullying and Youth With Disabilities: What We Have Learned and Future Directions

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Students with disabilities are disproportionately involved within the bullying dynamic. This session will outline unique characteristics, predictive and protective factors, and educational considerations that place this subset of youth at risk. The presenter will provide assessment and intervention recommendations grounded within the context of a multilevel system of support.

LEADER(S): Chad Rose, University of Missouri, Columbia

Early Literacy Success for All: A District/State Agency/University Partnership Evaluating the Impact of First-Grade Phonological Awareness Instruction

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents a districtwide approach to providing classroom Tier 1 phonological awareness instruction designed to prevent reading difficulties. The district, in collaboration with a state education agency, provided classroom teachers with comprehensive professional development and coaching to ensure that instruction was implemented systematically. Representatives from the school district, SEA, and a research university will describe the benefits of collaborative research partnerships.

LEADER(S): Michael Coyne, University of Connecticut, Storrs

Using Literature to Teach Transition-to-Adulthood Skills to Elementary and Secondary Students

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session addresses the need for teachers to identify and implement evidence-based practices to teach transition-related skills and knowledge. Findings from a qualitative study will be presented to describe the experiences of 27 teachers as they developed, presented, and evaluated transition curriculum units. Descriptions of the process and units will be provided during the presentation.

Technology and Special Education: How Are We Preparing Teachers?

FORMAT: Panel

New instructional technologies have built-in features that can support students with learning difficulties and disabilities without the need for specialized technologies. These and other changes in technology and instructional practices have important implications for the preparation of today's teachers. The presenters will share core components of the courses and other teacher learning experiences they have developed to prepare prospective and practicing educators to effectively use technology.

Exploring Convergence and Divergence in Teacher Understanding of Multitiered Systems of Support: A Mixed-Methods Study

FORMAT: Panel

Multitiered system of support (MTSS) frameworks provide schools an opportunity to deliver evidence-based instruction and intervention to diverse students. However, implementation is often fractured due to differing levels of understanding and skill of key stakeholders. This session shares the results of an exploratory mixed-methods study designed to better understand how educators are prepared to implement MTSS on school campuses, both in educator preparation and inservice practice.

What Alternate Assessments and Diplomas Really Mean for Students With Significant Disabilities

TOPIC: Public Policy
SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

According to the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA), students with significant cognitive disabilities are to have access to alternate assessments and, if the state wishes, state-defined alternate diplomas. This session will summarize where states are in these policy initiatives. It will address challenges these policies pose for administrators and educators.

Enhancing Your Class Meetings by Leveraging Restorative Justice Practices

SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Classroom management is challenging for many intervention specialists, particularly for novice teachers. Class meetings build and maintain rapport and set expectations for students; restorative justice practices increase awareness of one’s behavior while also decreasing unwanted behavior. This action research project explored the use of restorative justice practices embedded into class meetings for students with behavioral disorders.

📁 Autonomy, Competence, and Relatedness: The Self-Determination Strategy for Diverse Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
FORMAT: Poster Session

Self-determination is considered critical in transition planning. However, students with disabilities often struggle to develop self-determination skills, particularly students from culturally and linguistically diverse (CLD) families. This poster presentation shares strategies for collaboration among individualized education program (IEP) team members to enhance self-determination skills for students with disabilities from CLD families.

Engagement, Challenging Behavior, and Teacher Supports: Differences Between Co-Taught and Solo-Taught Classrooms

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents the results of an exploratory observational study investigating variables of levels of engagement, challenging behavior, and teacher supports for middle and high school students with high-incidence disabilities in co-taught and solo-taught classrooms. Findings reveal higher levels of engagement and supports in co-taught classrooms and higher levels of challenging behavior in solo-taught classrooms. Implications for research and practice will be discussed.

ADDRESSING MEASUREMENT, PLANNING AND SUPPORT OF ELLS

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

Academic Growth Trajectories of English Language Learners and Strategies for Improvement

Utilizing National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) data, the presenter of this session will examine the academic growth trajectories of English language learners (ELLs) in measures of fourth and eighth-grade reading and mathematics between 2003-2017 compared to their non-ELL peers. Attendees will learn about strategies for improvement and evidence from the field.

LEADER(S): Brad Uhing, Augustana University, Sioux Falls, SD

Developing Culturally and Linguistically Responsive IEPs Using Job-Embedded Professional Development

Individualized education programs (IEPs) document the appropriate education being provided to students. One of the fastest growing subgroups is English learners (ELs) with disabilities. There is a need for increased attention to developing culturally and linguistically responsive IEPs for diverse learners, which has implications for educator preparation and professional development. This research-to-practice session highlights key cultural and linguistic features to incorporate in IEPs for ELs.

Creating Effective Data Collection Systems: A Step-by-Set Guide to Track Student Outcomes

TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Data-driven decisions are essential for effective instructional planning for students’ special education needs. This session will outline key steps in the development and implementation of data collection systems. Examples and tips on how to design and implement effective data collection system will be discussed.

A Call to Action for Open Science: A How-To Guide for Moving Forward

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Open science aims to improve the validity, efficiency, and impact of research by making all aspects of the research enterprise open. In this session, the presenters provide guidelines and resources for researchers engaging in open-science practices such as preregistration, data and materials sharing, and posting preprints.

Analysis of Proportional Reasoning Problems and Misconceptions Among Students With Mathematics Disabilities

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents findings from an analysis of written explanations of students with mathematics disabilities on open-ended items involving ratio and proportion situations, to understand their ability to reason about proportions and identify misconceptions. The presenters will discuss how student misconceptions, especially ineffectual reasoning, can be remediated and prevented.

MODERATOR: Alba Ortiz, University of Texas, Austin

Assessing the Academic Language Skills of English Learners Through Personal Narratives

This multi-presentation session demonstrates the use of the English Learners Oral Narrative Scale to assess the academic language proficiency of students in bilingual education classrooms, including students with reading disabilities. Presenters will describe changes in global proficiency and language sub-skills, explore the relationship between oral narrative proficiency and reading achievement, and share suggestions for integrating language objectives in reading instruction.

Direct Instruction to Promote the Use of Text-to-Speech Software for Students With IDD in Postsecondary Education Settings

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD) often have challenges when accessing written text. One promising way to address this is through assistive technology (AT), in the form of text-to-speech (TTS) software. This session presents the results of a study evaluating the effectiveness of a scripted instructional program to teach adults with IDD to use the TTS tool Snap&Read and exploring the effect this tool has on reading comprehension.

Elementary Educators’ Efficacy in Implementing Comprehensive, Integrated Three-Tiered Models of Prevention

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The presenters of this session share findings from a practitioner-researcher partnership examining how elementary educators fared after 2 years implementing comprehensive, integrated, three-tiered (Ci3T) models of prevention. They will present educators’ Ci3T implementation data (treatment integrity and social validity scores) and share levels of efficacy and burnout and their relation to measures of implementation. The focus will be on educators’ sense of efficacy with classroom management.

📍 I’m a Pal: Supporting Peer Interaction for Children With Limited Speech

SECONDARY TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Positive social relationships are important for quality of life and can also improve academic performance. Children with disabilities and limited speech confront many barriers to establishing positive relationships with peers. This presentation focuses on evidence-based supports to increase and improve peer interaction for preschoolers with and without disabilities.

📍 Interdisciplinary STEM Lessons to Enhance Science Vocabulary Acquisition and Integrative Problem Solving for Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Understanding STEM as an interdisciplinary approach, the presenters of this session expanded STEM to STREAM, developing a package of STEM lesson plans with aligned math, science, and reading objectives and integrated technology and arts components. The intent of the developed STEM lessons is to promote science vocabulary acquisition, problem solving, and attitude and motivation toward learning STEM for elementary students with mild to severe disabilities.

TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Panel

Although observation systems are an effective mechanism in evaluating teaching quality and providing feedback to support development, challenges persist in the design and implementation of observation systems to support special educators. Panelists will discuss the ways in which Danielson’s framework for teaching, a widely adopted observation protocol, operates in special education contexts and with regard to specialized instruction. The panel reports on findings from an IES-funded study.

📍 Teachers and Trauma: How Secondary Trauma Affects Well-Being

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Since the publication of the Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACE) study, much research has focused on how to meet the needs of students with high levels of exposure to trauma. Less is known, however, about the effects on teacher well-being from dealing with student trauma. This interactive session will focus on the effects of secondary trauma on teachers and strategies for self-care, including the use of evidence-based practices in classroom management to decrease teacher and student stress.

* A Comparative Study of Latina Mothers and Teachers’ Experiences With Collaboration and Home-School Partnerships

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session compares experiences with special education collaboration between Latina mothers and teachers in a Catholic school. This qualitative study explored three dimensions of home-school partnerships: expectations around family engagement, perspectives of collaboration, and the role of advocacy. Successful home-school partnerships include frequent communication; reciprocal partnerships between parents and teachers; caring administration and staff; and equitable, shared decision making.

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

Children who are gifted and have disabilities (often referred to as twice-exceptional, 2e) demonstrate exceptional strengths in some areas and weaknesses in others. This creates a challenge for teachers while nurturing their strengths and accommodating their needs. This poster presentation shares strategies to support the social-emotional and academic needs of twice-exceptional students.

TOPIC: Public Policy
SECONDARY TOPIC: Physical/Health/Multiple Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

The term ‘service dog’ is often used as a generic label including service dogs for people with disabilities, emotional support dogs, psychiatric service dogs, seizure or diabetic alert dogs, and therapy dogs. The type and function of dogs included under the service dog umbrella are complex. This presentation provides information on the federal definition of service dogs and defines the purpose, training, and legal access granted to other types of assistance dogs often included in this category.

What Have We Learned? Two Decades of Research on Latinx Families’ Involvement in Special Education

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster shares the results of a systematic review of research on Latinx family involvement across 2 decades: obstacles, facilitators, and a strengths-based conceptualization of involvement. The presenters’ review yielded a comprehensive account of resources and approaches Latinx caregivers utilize and covet, as well as evidence of the cultural discontinuities affecting their partnerships with professionals. Presenters will provide evidence-based recommendations to strengthen partnerships.

A Meta-Analysis of Rigorous Reading Intervention Research in Primary Grades

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents findings from a meta-analysis of reading intervention research for struggling learners in Grades 1–3, which included a series of analyses to explore how student, intervention, and study characteristics influenced the impact. Results indicate that the reading interventions were, in general, moderately effective across students, settings, and measures. Findings can be used to inform which intervention practices have proven to be effective, and which areas are not resolved.

IDENTIFYING AND SUPPORTING TWICE-EXCEPTIONAL LEARNERS

What Do We Know About 2e Students?
What does the literature say about twice-exceptional students? What are research-based interventions best for these students? This presentation shares the results of a content analysis of the literature over the last 20 years relating to this population (a total of 563 articles). The term “twice-exceptional,” while used in gifted education and making inroads into psychology, is less prevalent in special education.
LEADER(S): Claire Hughes, College of Coastal Georgia, Brunswick
PRESENTER(S): Debbie Troxclair, Lamar University, Beaumont, TX

Exceptional Among the Exceptional: Meeting the Needs of Highly Gifted Students
Despite being referred to as a homogeneous group, gifted students are not all alike; like their peers who receive special education support, gifted students need varied services. This presentation provides insight into highly, exceptionally, and profoundly gifted students; their needs; and ways to meet these needs within the confines of a public school structure.
LEADER(S): Lynette Breedlove, Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green

Hiding in Plain Sight: Identification of Gifted and Twice-Exceptional Learners
The goal of identifying students for gifted services is to find all students who are in need of accelerated and enriched curriculum. Although research indicates that gifted learners exist in all populations, educators routinely miss students whose life experience differs from their own—specifically, students who live in poverty, are English learners, have cultural differences, or who have learning disabilities. This presentation examines best practices in gifted service identification.
LEADER(S): Wendy Behrens, Minnesota Department of Education, St. Paul

Mindfulness for Students With Gifts and Talents
Many gifted children have a heightened sensitivity to their surroundings and events, as well as to ideas and expectations. Constantly striving to live up to self-expectations or those of others to be first, best, or both can be very stressful. Recognizing these traits in their students, the presenters of this session implemented a mindfulness curriculum and collected and analyzed data from two fourth-grade classrooms (which included 2e students) in a gifted and talented magnet school.
LEADER(S): Dusty Columbia Embury, Wright State University, Dayton, OH
PRESENTER(S): Laura Clarke, Northern Kentucky Cooperative for Educational Services, Cold Spring

Parent Perspectives: Services, Supports, and Needs of Twice-Exceptional Children
Presenters will discuss the results of a national survey of parents of gifted children, including those who are twice-exceptional. Qualitative and quantitative data on parents’ perspectives of their children’s needs, and their experiences with the educational aspects, services, and supports will be shared. Implications for the need of early identification and supports while addressing both disability and giftedness in these children will be given, along with suggestions for further research.

PRESENTER(S): Bailey Irwin, University of Nebraska Kearney; Dawn Mollenkopf, University of Nebraska Kearney

Policy for Twice-Exceptional Learners
Policy matters; it makes it possible for decisions to be made and determines how resources will be spent. Recently, a state-by-state survey of state policy on twice-exceptional learners was conducted, the third survey in the past 6 years. The goal of the study was to establish the landscape of policy on this important topic and the assess progress in the setting of policy. This presentation shares this report and traces where changes have occurred over the past few years.

❖ A Blueprint for Addressing Severe Reading Needs: LAUSD’s Intensive Diagnostic Educational Centers

SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Los Angeles Unified School District’s Intensive Diagnostic Education Center (IDEC) services students whose learning disabilities affect acquisition of foundational reading skills. Over the past 10 years, IDEC staff has developed instructional practices that align to the latest research on reading development and intervention, with a measurable effect on students’ reading development. This presentation provides a blueprint for replicating IDEC’s best practices and recommendations for scale-up.

❖ Social Identity Theory, Social Exclusivity, and Social Dominance as Predictors of Aggression Among Adolescents With Identified and Unidentified EBD

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Understanding the importance of social identity and social dominance orientation creates a more nuanced understanding of bullying and victimization among youth with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD). Bullying behavior is rooted in perceptions of collective value, authority orientation and social dominance; construction of the other, us/them thinking, moral disengagement and blaming victims; and construction of cruelty, socialization, group identification and the binding factors of groups.

Increasing Diversity of Special Education Teacher Candidates Through Inclusive Practices in Higher Education

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Special education professionals work with diverse individuals, families, and communities. One way to increase and support a diverse special education workforce is to address the barriers in higher education that negatively affect diverse students. Inclusive excellence is one way to support diverse students in higher education teacher preparation programs, using of pedagogical strategies that address the needs of students with a variety of backgrounds, learning interests, and abilities.

Targeting Comprehension and Social Understanding in Students With ASD: A School-Based Intervention

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Although many studies report that students with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) demonstrate difficulties in reading comprehension, there are few evidence-based interventions to address these needs in the classroom. The presenters of this session will share the results of a study examining the effects of a listening comprehension intervention on the social and comprehension skills of 44 students ages 5-9 with ASD.

ALL THINGS PARAEDUCATOR

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

Developing and Testing Multitier Training for Paraprofessionals Serving Students With Severe Disabilities

Looking for practical strategies for training and supporting paraprofessionals to implement evidence-based systematic instructional strategies? The presenters will share findings from an experimental study testing the efficacy of a multitier training for paraprofessionals. Tiers included group training, follow-up coaching, and detailed scripting. All paraprofessionals implemented strategies accurately and promoted improved outcomes for students with severe disabilities.

From Rowley to Endrew: Are Rural IEPs Facilitating FAPE?

TOPIC: Accountability Systems for Students with Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation reviews the results of a study evaluating 133 IEPs from seven rural Southern districts for common areas of substantive content and compliance. Over 93% of IEPs reviewed included both procedural and substantive errors that have the potential to affect the provision of free appropriate public education (FAPE) for students with disabilities. Implications for practice, policy, and future research directions will be discussed.

IDENTIFYING STUDENTS WITH VISUAL IMPAIRMENTS

TOPIC: Visual Impairments
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

Blind in California But Not in Oregon: How State Policies Influence Prevalence Rates

This presentation reviews the first state-by-state analysis of special education eligibility criteria for visual impairments (VI). Statistical models identified eligibility criteria correlating to states’ prevalence of students with VI, indicating students receive services based on their state, not their disability. Emphasis will be placed on practical applications for families and practitioners.

LEADER(S): Rachel Schles, University of Pittsburgh, PA

Understanding the Population of Students With Visual Impairments

This presentation shares the results of a national mixed-methods survey to establish how many young children and students (birth-22 years old) were identified and receiving visual impairment special education services in the 2016-2017 school year. Misunderstandings regarding Federal Child Count data and implications of labeling students in special education are highlighted.

A Year of Self-Regulated Strategy Development for Inclusive Elementary Writing Instruction

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Writing is an important skill that needs to be developed starting in elementary school. This session presents a year-long sequence of writing instruction for inclusive elementary classrooms using self-regulated strategy development (SRSD) for informative, opinion, and narrative writing. Approaches for differentiation and scaffolding for students with disabilities and English language learners will be presented.

THE INSTRUCTIONAL DIMENSION OF CO-TEACHING

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR: Jessica Hovland, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley

High-Yield Co-Teaching: Making a Positive Difference for All Children

This multi-presentation session supports participant understanding of incorporating how specially designed instruction (SDI) within co-teaching models. Through a statewide initiative, teachers acquired the knowledge and skills needed for high-yield co-planning and co-teaching. Student performance data supports high-yield co-teaching where SDI makes a difference.

STRATEGIES FOR STUDENTS BECOMING ACTIVE PARTICIPANTS IN THE TRANSITION PROCESS

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session
MODERATOR: Dale Matusevich, Delaware Department of Education, Dover

ACTNow! Improve Transition Through Student Self-Determination and Agency Collaboration

This presentation is a hands-on demonstration of evidence-based practices, predictors of transition success, and multitiar system of supports using the ACTNow tool. Based on students’ documented strengths, abilities, needs, limitations, interests, and preferences, the tool can facilitate a seamless interagency transition to appropriate postsecondary employment, education, and community settings.

THERE’S AN APP FOR THAT: READING AND VOCABULARY INSTRUCTION FOR STRUGGLING STUDENTS

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

The InferCabulary App: A Novel Approach for Teaching and Learning Vocabulary for Students With Disabilities

There are multiple pathways for students with and without disabilities to learn new vocabulary terms. However, the number of empirically tested and validated multimedia options is surprisingly limited. In this session, presenters introduce and discuss an app used to teach vocabulary to students with and without disabilities, sharing results from a 6-week investigation of its effectiveness. They will focus on the implications for pairing apps with explicit instruction.

LEADER(S): Michael Kennedy, University of Virginia, Charlottesville
PRESENTER(S): Victoria VanUitert, University of Virginia, Charlottesville

Using an Augmented Reality App to Support Struggling Readers

This session presents the results of a single-case design study investigating the effects of using an iPad augmented reality (AR) app on reading performance of first-grade at-risk students. The presenters will also discuss how the AR app can be used to teach students who struggle with reading.

Separate-School Placement Decisions for High-Risk Students With Moderate and Severe Disabilities

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Poster Session

In the 2017-2018 school year, nearly 90,000 students with disabilities were educated in separate schools. There are numerous factors that lead to this segregation, including urbanicity, socioeconomic status, student age, and teacher self-efficacy, but what do the teachers say? This poster session describes findings from a study identifying risk factors of separate-school placement and the perceptions of teachers of high-risk students about the influences that led to these decisions.

Reading Instruction for Children With Down Syndrome: Extending Research on Behavioral Phenotype-Aligned Interventions

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

Recent studies substantiate the efficacy of phenotypically aligned instruction in improving basic reading skills for children with Down syndrome. However, research does not yet relate the reading intervention with improvements in curriculum-based measures, including the reading of connected text. This poster presents the results of a study examining the effect of phenotypically aligned reading instruction on the acquisition of advanced graphemes for this population.

College Transition for At-Risk Youth: Products From a School-University Partnership

TOPICTOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Poster Session

High school students from disadvantaged backgrounds face greater barriers to college enrollment and matriculation than their peers. This poster presentation describes activities and interventions within a school-university partnership to increase college enrollment: parent training, a senior signing celebration, and a text-messaging intervention through their first year of postsecondary education.

Coaching for Consciousness: Supporting the Learning and Language Needs of Emergent Bilinguals

TOPICTOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

Teachers are not well prepared to address the multidimensional identities of emergent bilinguals (EBs) struggling to learn in English-immersion classrooms. This poster presents a study of four teachers’ developing critical consciousness of the language and learning needs of EBs within shared reading lessons. Findings from this case study add new insights about teaching EBs and empowering teachers to transform how they think about the intersectionality of EBs in their classrooms.

Self-Regulated Strategy Development for Students Learning English and At Risk in Writing

TOPICTOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presentation shares the results of a multiple baseline, single-case design study in which three fourth- and fifth-grade English language learners (ELLs) who were at risk in writing and attended Title I schools learned powerful strategies for opinion writing. The self-regulated strategy development (SRSD) instructional approach was adapted for these students. Students showed meaningful writing gains and positively evaluated instruction.

♫ Explicit Instruction of Mathematical Skills for Students With Dyscalculia: High-Leverage Assessment Practices

SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Poster Session

Numerical abilities are essential for many aspects of day-to-day living. Students with dyscalculia struggle with foundational mathematical skills which can hinder their ability to access higher level mathematical content. This poster details how high-leverage assessment practices drive instructional decision making to help students gain high levels of mathematics mastery.

♫ State-Level Scale-Up of PBIS: An Exploration of Resources and Supports

SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Poster Session

Most U.S. states have established organizations to scale up positive behavior intervention and support (PBIS). The presenters of this poster extracted information from state and territory websites regarding types of technical support, recognition systems, organization systems, annual reports, school outcomes, professional development, training materials, and interventions at each tier. Participants will be able to view individual state data, including information on family-school partnerships.

Teaching Preservice Teachers to Talk Data!

SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Poster Session

How often do preservice programs give candidates the chance to discuss data? Candidates show a lack of confidence in this area, well into their first critical years of teaching. To address this issue, faculty redesigned tiered intervention case studies to include an education specialist symposium where students presented data findings to peers during poster sessions.

❖ Restorative Practices For Students With Emotional, Behavioral, and Mental Health Needs

SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Restorative practices (RPs) help to build community, celebrate accomplishments, transform conflict, rebuild relationships that have been harmed, and reintegrate students who have been suspended or expelled. A restorative approach brings awareness that misconduct is part of the developmental process for children. RPs are extremely adaptable for use with students with emotional, behavioral, and mental health needs. This session will explain and demonstrate how to use RPs to support all students.

🔥 The Effect of Inclusion on Student Academic Outcomes

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation shares the results of a study investigating the academic outcomes of a cohort of students receiving special education services in the state of Indiana, in high-, mixed-, and low-inclusion settings. Students were followed from Grades 3-8 (2013-2018). Results show that students with disabilities who spend 80% or more of their time in a general education inclusive classroom do significantly better in both reading and math than their peers who spend more time in separate settings.

 Improving Employment Outcomes for Students With Intellectual Disability

SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Longitudinal data collection systems indicate the importance of postsecondary education. The presenters will highlight employment outcomes and employment supports of 79 young adults with intellectual disability (ID). Recommendations from graduates and parents for improvements to postsecondary programming and career preparation will be discussed.

 Leveraging Transportation Resources to Support Students’ Independent Travel

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Although lack of transportation adversely affects postschool outcomes, educators often don’t have the time or knowledge to leverage transportation supports that can facilitate students’ independent travel. The Federal Transit Administration recommends that schools and transit agencies develop partnerships through community coordination. Attendees will learn about community mobility management providing informational and fiscal supports to help educators to address student mobility.

FROM AVATARS TO AUGMENTED REALITY: BEST PRACTICES FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

Using Augmented Reality and Video Promoting to Teach Mathematics to Students With Disabilities
This session presents results from a study where augmented reality (AR) and video prompting (VP) were used to teach mathematics to middle-school students with disabilities via mobile technology. Results of the study and suggestions for practitioners wishing to use AR and VP to teach mathematics and other academic content will be discussed.

LEADER(S): Ryan Kellem, Brigham Young University, Provo, UT

Using Live Animation and Avatars to Increase Engagement and Teach Social Skills to Students With Disabilities
This session presents the results of a study evaluating how individuals with disabilities engage with virtual characters (avatars) versus with humans, and the effectiveness of using live animation and avatars to teach social skills. Results will be discussed, along with suggestions for future research and implications for practice.

Rapid School Improvement: Building an MTSS Framework to Improve Special Education Outcomes

TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The Four Domains for Rapid School Improvement is a systems framework developed by the Center on School Turnaround, part of a network of federally funded centers that focus on building the capacity to turn around chronically low-performing schools. Learn about the essential features two domains of rapid school improvement, turnaround leadership and culture shift, as essential for districts to be able to implement, align, and create a multi-tiered system of supports [MTSS] framework.

Improving Educational Outcomes for Children in Foster Care

TOPIC: Maltreatment
SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Foster youth are referred for special education at extremely high rates and experience dismal educational outcomes. However, research suggests that by targeting social and emotional skills (e.g., social competence and emotion management), foster youth can develop characteristics that serve as a protective factor and, in turn, contribute to improvements in academic achievement.

Using Data to Improve Math Outcomes for Middle School Students

SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The presenters of this session worked with 20 middle school teachers to help them learn how to use data to inform math instruction for students with math difficulties. Teachers implemented weekly algebraic reasoning progress-monitoring measures, participated in in-person and online professional learning, and made instructional changes based on student-level data leading to improved outcomes for students. Come learn about the data-tracking platform and online professional learning!

Pediatric Cancer Survivors: How Treatment Affects Education Outcomes

SECONDARY TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The number of childhood cancer survivors has risen over the last 10 years. An estimated 80% survive 5 years or longer, and some 2 decades or more. But, due to treatment or side effects of treatment, there are many educational impacts that these children face. This poster provides an overview of academic and psycho-social strategies to assist this group of students.

Make Fractions Easy With SRSD Fractions: A Conceptual and Procedural Framework

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Demonstration

Come to this session for a demonstration of self-regulated strategy development (SRSD) to teach fraction skills. Free-access lesson plans and materials will be shared for the mnemonics FILMS, CUT, and EDIT, which guide students in adding/subtracting fractions with unlike denominators, simplifying fractions, and converting improper fractions to mixed numbers. The presentation will involve modeling each recursive stage of SRSD, along with a discussion of implications for practice.

Supporting Communication – It’s Everyone’s Job!

FORMAT: Demonstration

Individualized education program (IEP) teams need to support students with severe communication disorders throughout the school day and across settings. Meaningful support requires planning and collaboration. In this interactive session, participants will explore creating a communication plan to increase communicative engagement across people and settings, to be used for students with any communication disorder.

Adapting Foundational Literacy Instruction for Older Readers

SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Demonstration

Many students with disabilities need continual development of foundational literacy skills through middle and high school. In this demonstration session, participants will apply suggestions for adapting foundational literacy practices for older students. The demonstration will include one strategy that addresses word identification and spelling, one strategy for morphological awareness, and one strategy for reading comprehension.

❖ How High-Level Questions Lead to Conceptual Understanding in Middle School Math Classrooms

SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Poster Session

Discussion in math is vital for student conceptual understanding, yet teachers generally do not ask discussion questions. Using the Electronic Quality of Inquiry Protocol (EQUIP), middle school math teachers’ questioning levels, complexity, ecology, communication patterns, and classroom interactions were observed. The results shaped professional development and coaching to change instruction.

Co-Teaching: The Professional Behind the MASK

Are you frustrated with the co-teaching experience? Come to this interactive, multi-presentation session to learn how to lead the co-teaching relationship into a collaborative experience that utilizes both teachers’ abilities, talents, and expertise to meet the needs of the whole classroom. The MASK strategy will help you to manage co-teaching stress, accept co-teaching as a valuable tool, strengthen relationships, and create keystones that allow each co-teacher to personally grow.

Implementing the Universal Design for Learning (UDL) Framework for All Learners

FORMAT: Panel

Today's classrooms are diverse, and teachers must use evidence-based practices in order to meet the needs of all learners. In this session, four highly experienced teachers present a panel discussion on the use of the universal design for learning (UDL) framework in classrooms from preschool through college. Participants are encouraged to bring questions for the panel.

❖ Quality of Life of Parents of Children Identified With ASD/DD in Qatar: Multimodal Narratives

SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Few studies exist regarding the quality of life of families residing in the Middle East. This presentation shares the results of a study exploring parents’ perceptions of caring for their children with autism spectrum disorder or developmental delays in Qatar. The goal of studying this marginalized population was to guide opening up multimodal narratives between families and school personnel.

❖ The Gifted Learner: Not Your Traditional Exceptional Student, But the Needs Are Real

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

When most people think about exceptional learners, they picture those students who receive special education support under one or more IDEA categories. Children with gifts and talents are also exceptional: They learn very different from the norm and have distinct cognitive, social, and emotional needs. This session explores ways these students are truly diverse.

Visual Supports to Improve Outcomes for Culturally Diverse Students With ASD
TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Poster Session
Visual supports help students make concrete associations between words and contexts, which may be more suitable for children with ASD than relying on auditory processing. This poster session presents practical supports and interventions to address language and cultural barriers for individuals with autism spectrum disorders (ASD) who are English learners (ELs). This presentation draws from the research on interventions for this population to recommend potential best practices for practitioners.

Increasing Early Number-Sense Skills of Preschool Students With ASD
SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Poster Session
This poster shares the results of a study using ‘number talks’ to increase number-sense understanding of preschool students with autism spectrum disorder (ASD). Number talks is a socially constructed instruction technique where students engage in conversations around solving mathematical problems. Systematic techniques (prompting, visual supports, and modeling) were added to support the participation and learning of students with ASD. All participants increased in number-sense understanding.

Supporting College Students with Disabilities in Teacher Training Programs

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session
Increasingly, students with disabilities are fully participating in traditional higher education programs. Those in the field of special education should fully embrace and support preservice teachers with disabilities, but there is little guidance in this area. This poster presentation focuses on providing supports and accessibility that comply with training standards in teacher education programs for these students.

POLICIES, PRINCIPLES, PRACTICES THAT AFFECT RURAL SPECIAL EDUCATION TEACHER RETENTION: TEACHER PERCEPTIONS

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster session presents the results of a correlational design study examining demographic and contextual factors related to special education teacher longevity in a rural state in the Midwest. Results showed that a teacher’s age and licensure route had a significant influence on years of experience (longevity). In addition, teachers rated self-efficacy, administrative/colleague support, and school district characteristics as the most important contextual factors in their retention.

Making Sense of the Continuum of Supports for Students With EBD

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation provides an overview of the continuum of evidence-based behavioral supports available for students with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD) and places them within an empirically derived taxonomy of intensity to assist teachers in developing stronger behavioral programming. Participants will gain insight into the range of empirically supported practices identified through rigorous, systematic evidence reviews and learn how to leverage these methods.

Cultural and Historical Influence on Disability Categories in China, Korea, and the United States

TOPIC: International Programs/Services
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation compares different disability categories and the percentages of each category in the United States, Korea, and China. Attendees will also learn how the unique cultural, historic, and societal backgrounds of each country influence the differing identification of disability categories.

Diversity in Special Education Classrooms: Is the Research Keeping Up?

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Special education classrooms have become more diverse over the past 20 years. Educators must increasingly implement culturally relevant practices in addition to evidence-based teaching practices. But is the research identifying EBPs reflective of the diversity in classrooms where they are being implemented? Which in turn raises the question: For whom do EBPs work?

Beginning Special Education Teachers: Getting Them Started ... and Keeping Them Going

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Teacher retention in special education is a problem! Beginning special educators feel underprepared for the students they teach. Using qualitative research, trends and issues were examined to identify why some teachers stay and others leave. The results revealed the supportive structures needed for novice special education teachers to continue teaching.

PRESENTER(S): Wendy Boehm, Uniquely Kids a Division of Cassody Company Inc., Alexandria, VA
TRAUMA AND ANXIETY: VISUAL ARTS STRATEGIES ADDRESSING THE NEEDS OF TODAY’S CHILDREN

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

- So Many Worries/Fears: Supporting Children With Anxiety Through the Visual Arts
  How can educators assist students who worry frequently, who become fearful in varied situations, who become physically ill at the thought of taking a test or participating in class activities? These challenges are faced everyday by many educators as they strive to meet the needs of their students. Session focuses on guiding principles for working with students with anxiety and provides an array of visual arts activities designed to assist students as they cope with anxiety, worries, and fears.

  LEADER(S): Beverley Johns, MacMurray College, Jacksonville, IL
  PRESENTER(S): Adrienne Hunter, Pittsburgh, PA

- Using Art to Reach Students Who Have Experienced Trauma
  Children who have experienced psychological trauma are less likely to succeed in school and are at risk of dropping out. With the increasing number of students coming to school having suffered some type of trauma, educators and administrators need a better understanding of trauma to provide effective education for all children. This session provides research-based teaching practices to reach students and enhance learning for youth who have suffered trauma using innovative visual arts education.

TRIPLETS: Training Interdisciplinary Educators to Support High-Needs Populations

SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session describes the TRIPLETS personnel preparation project, which pairs scholars in applied behavior analysis and special education master’s degree programs to coach new or geographically isolated educators serving students with high-intensity needs in implementing high-leverage practices. One team trained a teacher how to assess challenging behavior, implement a trial-based functional assessment, analyze data to identify function of behavior, and create a function-based intervention.

Practitioner-Implemented Naturalistic Developmental Behavior Interventions: Social Validity Practices

TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session shares the results of a systematic review evaluating the components (goals, procedures, outcomes) and features of social-validity assessment practice studies in which researchers trained practitioners to implement naturalistic developmental behavior interventions (NDBIs) with young children with disabilities. NDBIs are evidence-based approaches implemented by the adults in a child’s natural environment. Social validity may influence maintenance of practitioner implementation.

Assistive Technology Skills and Instruction for High School Students

SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents the results from a survey about assistive technology commonly used by high school students with visual impairments, their related needs, and teacher-reported barriers to meeting students’ needs. This information can be used to develop more effective educational programming for students, which will allow for greater access to their school environment, as well as prepare them for postsecondary education or employment.

Promoting the Future Success of Students With Learning Disabilities

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session shares recent research focused on the outcomes for students with learning disabilities (LD) once they leave high school. Attendees will learn how leaders and teachers apply research on successful adults with LD to assess, understand, and develop programming for their current kindergarten through post-graduate students.

Using Virtual Manipulatives to Support Acquisition and Maintenance of Mathematics Concepts and Skills

SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session synthesizes multiple research studies regarding the effectiveness of virtual manipulatives as a tool for secondary students with intellectual disability, autism spectrum disorder, and other developmental disabilities on developmentally appropriate mathematics. Presenters and attendees will discuss the benefits and limitations of virtual manipulatives as well as their efficacy and implementation.

❖ The Impact of Embedded Items on Reading Comprehension Performance

TOPIC: Assessment
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Reading comprehension items placed within text rather than at the end may remove measurement of confounding constructs such as working memory and attention. This presentation will report results from a study that examined student performance on traditional and embedded item types. Benefits to content, measurement, and equity are discussed.

❖ Tips and Tricks for Writing SMART Behavior Goals

SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

A well-designed individualized education program (IEP) is critical to ensure students with exceptionalities receive a free and appropriate education (FAPE). This session shares tips for developing measurable behavioral goals and practical strategies for effective progress monitoring. Participants will receive resources and materials.

❖ Improving Elementary Students’ Word-Problem Solving: Teach Students to Use Equations!

SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Word-problem solving is hard for elementary students with math difficulty. The presenters of this session taught students to use equations to represent the structure of a word problem. Students receiving explicit instruction on setting up and solving equations within a word-problem intervention demonstrated improved performance over students not receiving such instruction. Attendees will learn practical strategies to teach students how to use equations when solving word problems.

▶ In Their Own Words: The Postsecondary Experiences of Young Adults With ASD

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Research reports bleak outcomes for transition-age youth with autism spectrum disorder (ASD). Less is known, however, about the personal experiences of this population—including satisfaction with postsecondary activities, personal victories, barriers, and feedback on their preparedness. In-depth interviews with recent graduates will provide insight and guidance for transition-related professionals and families.

▶ Recent Research Developments on Career and Technical Education for Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
FORMAT: Panel

This session’s panel will discuss recent research establishing positive correlations between the participation of students with disabilities (SWD) in career and technical education (CTE) courses in high school and later graduation and employment outcomes, while emphasizing that there is currently no causal evidence linking SWD participation in CTE to later outcomes.

▶ Scaling Up DBI: Teaching, Developing, and Building Independence in Partner Schools

FORMAT: Panel

Data-based individualization (DBI) has achieved increase recognition and use over the past decade. Districts and regions are now starting to scale up. This process is challenging and raises many new issues and concerns. This panel will discuss ways one large school district and one large regional technical assistance center have approached the issue of scaling up. The presenters describe DBI, implementation strategies, and successes and challenges.

❖ Making the Most of Independent Work Time: There’s Nothing Wrong with Worksheets if You’re Doing It Correctly

SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Many teachers see worksheets as a bad thing, but when used correctly they can be an effective tool for both practicing key concepts and supporting student engagement—which ultimately maximize success. Within this context, the presenters will share a series of strategies (choice making, precision requests, feedback, precorrection, high-probability request sequences to support engagement), all of which can be embedded in or enhanced by the use of appropriate worksheets.

❖ Teacher2Teacher: Building Collaborative Relationships Between Parents and School Professionals

TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session focuses on the parent-professional journey in special education: ‘goodness of fit,’ how to identify child and family strengths, and reciprocal communication. Meeting a family’s basic needs requires a nurturing, predictable environment; consistent caregiving; stimulating interactions; supporting the developmental trajectory; providing opportunities to take risks and overcome challenges; structure and clear boundaries; and the stable context of family and community.

❖ Parents and Teachers-The Dynamic Duo

SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Parents and teachers don’t often realize the full potential of their unique working relationship. Come to this session to learn about strategies for creating an effective and trust-based relationship focused on success for all students, including communication styles, managing time and expectations, team advocacy, creating personalized tools, and goal setting. Free up valuable time and resources so students, teachers, and parents can all have a happier and more successful school experience.

❖ Strength-Based Evaluations and IEPs

TOPIC: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Explore the fundamentals of utilizing a strength-based meeting structure to develop high-quality, student-focused individualized education programs (IEPs). Strength-based IEP meetings are student-focused, collaborative, data-based, and procedurally accurate. Strength-based IEP meetings focus on shifting and creating a culture of openness, honesty, respect, and courtesy. Gain insights into how strength-based IEPs provide IEP teams with a structure that supports an environment of mutual purpose.

❖ Sticky Notes Support Strategic Student Outcomes

FORMAT: Demonstration

Although there are few peer-reviewed articles specifically citing sticky notes (SN) as a strategy for intervention, there are studies using SN as a low-technology tool in learning contexts. This session offers a research plan for SN intervention to increase comprehension and data collection, and also to support parental involvement and efficacy and student learning. Participants will have an opportunity for hands-on exploration of SN strategies!

Transforming STEM Literacy Learning and Enhancing Team-Teaching to Support Diverse Learners

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORM: Demonstration

Project TALENT (Transforming Agricultural Literacy-learning and Enhancing Team-teaching) provided professional development for STEM teachers working in rural west Texas serving a large population of underserved students. With support from agricultural experts and business leaders, teachers learned to identify, extract, and incorporate real-world issues into classroom instruction through simulation, replication, and problem-based learning undergirded with co-teaching to support diverse learners.

Targeting Academic and Social Skills at a Summer Camp for Youth With Autism Spectrum Disorder

FORM: Poster Session

This poster session shares the results of a study exploring the effect of individualized reading interventions on the oral reading fluency of children with autism spectrum disorder who attended a summer camp. A brief experimental analysis, in which several reading interventions were presented in random order, was conducted with each participant to determine which intervention might be most effective. Interventions were administered individually by trained camp staff during 30-min sessions.

❖ Characteristics of PBIS Within High Schools

TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

There is overwhelming evidence supporting positive behavior interventions and supports (PBIS) as an effective approach to improving student behavior—and emerging evidence for academics. However, most research on the efficacy, systems, and procedures have been at the elementary and middle school levels. This poster shares the results of a search for studies for high schools implementing PBIS with a minimum of Tier 1 implementation.

❖ A Meta-Analysis of Word Problem-Solving Interventions for Elementary Students At Risk for Math Disabilities

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of a meta-analysis assessing the effect of word problem-solving (WPS) interventions on the WPS accuracy of elementary-age students with or at risk for math disability (MD). Demographic factors and instructional components that underlie effective studies were also investigated.

Streamlining a Nonfiction Comprehension Intervention: Is Comprehensive Always Best?

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The presenters of this session share the methods and results from a recently completed randomized controlled trial of a strategy-oriented nonfiction reading comprehension intervention for at-risk fourth graders. They will compare two versions of the program, a comprehensive ‘full’ version and a slimmed-down ‘simple’ version. Discussion will be centered around the advantages and disadvantages of each approach.

Connecting Math Word-Problem Solving and Reading Comprehension: The Role of Language Comprehension

SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Students with learning disabilities (LDs) experience worse outcomes across word-problem solving and reading comprehension than students who have difficulty in only one area. The presenters of this session describe this as ‘higher-order comorbid LDs,’ and will share the results of a study evaluating the role of language comprehension as a means of improving both academic outcomes.

Social Support, Self-Efficacy, and Burnout of Special Educators of Students With EBD

SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The presenters of this session share results from a survey of special educators working with students with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD). Come to learn which sources of support (administrative, colleague, paraprofessional) as well as which types of support (emotional) enhance special educators’ self-efficacy and lessen burnout. Attendees will gain a greater understanding of how the work environment is associated with self-efficacy and burnout of special educators.

DIGGING DEEP INTO HLPS

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

- Improving Specially Designed Instruction Through High-Leverage Practices

Specially designed instruction (SDI) describes content and instructional methods designed to address the unique needs of students with disabilities. High-leverage practices (HLPs) are fundamental to effective instruction for students with disabilities and thus an important aspect of SDI. Presenters will explain how HLPs are integrated into SDI in districts.

LEADER(S): Dia Jackson, American Institutes for Research, Washington, DC
PRESENTER(S): Jalima Alicea, Baltimore City Public Schools, MD

- What’s the Big IDEA? Promoting High-Leverage Practices to Enhance Education Outcomes

This presentation highlights faculty use of high-leverage practices (HLPs) to inform preservice candidates about effective teaching strategies for inclusive learning environments. The presenter will demonstrate utilization of professional development, resource materials, and coaching opportunities that promote HLPs in low-performing schools with diverse student populations.

INSTRUCTIONAL STRATEGIES FOR ENGLISH LEARNERS WITH LEARNING DISABILITIES

TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

Promoting High-Quality Discourse Among Bilingual Students With Learning Disabilities
Presenter will provide practitioners with strategies to increase mathematical discourse among bilingual students with LD. These strategies play to students’ strengths and minimize the difficulties encountered due to disability and English language proficiency. Through these strategies, teachers can engage bilingual students with LD in their mathematical communities and improve mathematical learning.

Reading Instruction Strategies for Upper-Elementary Students With Learning Disabilities Who are English Learners
Reading comprehension in content areas is important for academic success beginning in upper elementary grades. Vocabulary and word knowledge directly influence comprehension of content areas. Students with learning disabilities in reading have difficulty comprehending text when presented with new vocabulary and unknown words. Reading is a challenging task for these monolingual English speakers and is an even larger challenge for students who are English learners.

Support Preservice Teachers’ Cognitive, Affective, and Behavioral Development: A Holistic Approach to Teacher Preparation

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The special education field is highly stressful. The use of holistic and core reflection approaches (core qualities, self-care, strength-based approaches, relationship development) helped preservice teachers become more intentional, competent, and collaborative. As their own sense of well-being improved, so did their sense of efficacy in the classroom. The discussion will describe and reflect on the benefits of implementing a holistic approach with preservice or beginning teachers.

● Turning on Touch Thinking: From Tactile Discrimination to Braille Letter Identification

SECONDARY TO PIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents strategies to develop tactile discrimination skills for beginning braille reading with students who previously made limited progress in tactile reading skills. “Turning on Touch Thinking” is a road map to use hands for learning to make sense of a braille symbol under a finger.

● Understanding the ‘Why’ of Inclusion for Students With Significant Disabilities

TO PIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TO PIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
FORMAT: Poster Session

The precedent for inclusive education was set in the least restrictive environment (LRE) clause of PL 94-142 in 1975. Although strides have been made since then, most schools still treat inclusive education as new and challenging. This poster presentation highlights reasons to support inclusive school communities for students with the most significant cognitive disabilities.

● Promoting Upstander Behavior to Address Bullying in Schools

TO PIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
SECONDARY TO PIC: Maltreatment
FORMAT: Poster Session

There is growing national awareness of the negative and long-term consequences associated with bullying. While there is growing research on programs to address bullying, few interventions target the bystander—yet most that do are successful in decreasing bullying. Targeting the bystander and giving them the tools and encouragement to intervene as ‘upstanders’ should be an integral component of bullying interventions. Practical, research-based steps for teachers will be presented.

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Poster Session

The presenters of this poster will discuss results from a systematic review on social-emotional learning (SEL) in secondary schools when implemented at the primary level of prevention. They will show current SEL intervention programs implemented, discuss the outcome measures used in studies, and assess the quality of studies of SEL in secondary schools.

Young English Learners With Math Difficulties: A Longitudinal Study

TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

Children with Spanish as a first language consistently yield low mathematics scores on national assessments such as NAEP. Although their difficulties have been partially attributed to cross-language transfer, linguistic complexity, and reading skill, the role of cognition has been overlooked. This presentation assesses three models (domain-specific knowledge, phonological memory, executive processing) to highlight classroom variables that mediate and compensate for cognitive influences.

edTPA: Do Classroom Environments Impact Special Education Teacher Candidate Scores?

SECONDARY TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of a study evaluating classroom demographic factors (e.g., number of students taught, disability type) and their relationships to edTPA scores for a cohort of undergraduate special education teacher candidates. Find out how these results can shape future internship placements and gain suggestions for future research.

Inviting Therapy Dogs Into Your School? Consider the Standards of Practice

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

Schools are increasingly incorporating use of therapy dogs in special education classrooms, a practice supported by existing research. Therapy dog visits might seem easy to arrange and implement, but knowing the standards of practice for animal-assisted interventions is essential to safe human–animal interactions and effective educational opportunities. This poster presents guidelines for a protocol, co-planning between the therapy dog handler and educator, and reflective practice.

Support Professionals’ Beliefs About Autism, Transition, and Work

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
FORMAT: Poster Session

Positive expectancy beliefs are a predictor for transition success. Little is known about what direct support professionals (DSP) believe about transition-age clients with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) and their transition to work. This poster presents descriptive themes about ASD and work-expectancy derived from interviews with nine DSPs who support transition-age youth with ASD.

Data-Based Flexible Grouping: Providing Differentiated Instruction to Meet Student Needs in Reading

TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

Despite research demonstrating the benefits of using data to group students for targeted small-group instruction, teachers may not consistently do this due to the planning requirements involved. This poster illustrates how to use data to group students and plan instruction tailored to students’ needs.

Service-Delivery Effects on the Remediation of Speech-Sound Disorders: A Local Randomized Clinical Trial

TOPIC: Communicative Disabilities and Deafness
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presentation shares data from a small-scale randomized clinical trial (N=35) comparing the effect of shorter, more frequent therapy sessions to that of longer, less frequent therapy sessions on multiple speech-sound treatment outcomes for school-age children. Results are presented at the condition and whole-group levels, with specific implications for service delivery.

Glimpses Into the Minds of Young Writers: How Children Plan Texts With Art

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster session focuses on fourth- and fifth-grade students with learning disabilities and their pre-writing with art and its effect on idea generation for writing. Presenters employed visual analysis methods and memoing to compare students’ texts with their iPad app drawings. Students made a visual of some story components, but not all. Students’ art was a type of reference point for some of the ideas that they mentally supplemented so as to have a complete story sequence.

Technology-Based VRA Strategy for Use in Mathematics Instruction for Students With ASD

SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability

FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster shares the results of a study exploring transformation of the concrete-representational-abstract (CRA) instructional strategy to a technology-supported virtual-representational-abstract (VRA) strategy for use in mathematics instruction for students with autism spectrum disorder (ASD). Elementary students with ASD were taught to use technology-based materials in a VRA instructional sequence delivered via model-lead-test to help them gain foundational mathematics concepts/skills.

The Impact of Observation-Generated Performance Feedback on Teacher Learning

SECONDARY TOPIC: Administration/Supervision

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Teachers learn best when they receive feedback and support. This presentation highlights the significance of providing teachers with observation-generated performance feedback. Using examples from a single-subject study with preservice teachers, the presenters discuss ways that teacher educators and coaches can objectively collect data during observations and provide specific feedback to help increase teachers’ use of evidence-based practices.

- Ethical and Legal Guidelines for Effective Supervision of Paraeducators

  TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
  SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
  FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

  Teachers often report that they have had minimal training in working effectively with paraeducators; they have little understanding of their role in supervision and what is required of them. This session will review legislation regarding the training and supervision of paraprofessionals, and state regulations and policy that go beyond federal minimum standards. Participants will learn about training paraeducators, assigning tasks, roles, effective delegation, and ways to promote teamwork.

  TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
  SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
  FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

  The Engineering for All project (AIS NSW School Research Project) focuses on building knowledge and skills in engineering and applied research, and incorporates universal design for learning elements. This session shares the results of a study of elementary students who participated in universally designed engineering curriculum. Results demonstrate a significant difference between students who engaged in engineering curriculum from those in the control group on habits of mind.

From Theory to Practice: Examining and Improving the Writing Skills of Students in Special Populations

TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Panel

Writing is a critical skill that many students struggle to develop. This presentation will describe two studies focusing on low writing abilities: one among juvenile offenders that revealed the importance of sentence- and discourse-level skills for overall writing abilities, and another including middle school students at risk for writing difficulties. The panelists will highlight the importance of spelling and discourse-level language skills as part of writing instruction.

Using an Adaptive Intervention Framework to Enhance Tier 2 Behavior Interventions

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents the findings of a randomized control trial of an adaptive intervention framework (AIF) designed to help school-based practitioners in selecting and adapting Tier 2 behavior interventions. The AIF includes variables for making intervention selections, an array of intervention options, tailoring variables to determine when to adapt, and a guide for decision making. Results will be presented on student behavior, teacher behavior, social validity, and treatment integrity.

What New Can We Learn About Students With Disabilities From NLTS 2012?

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The National Longitudinal Transition Study 2012 (NLTS 2012) surveyed 12,000 parents and 12,000 transition-age students with disabilities. NLTS 2012 gathered information on student/family characteristics, individualized education program (IEP) and transition planning participation, school services and supports, future goals, and other insights on these students and families which provide a fresh look at their experiences.

Using Apps and Other Technology to Support Instruction in Literacy and Mathematics

FORMAT: Multi-Presentation Session

- Integrating Apps Into Mathematics Intervention
  - It can be difficult for special educators to select a mathematics mobile application, simply because of the large number of apps available! This hands-on session will share information about pedagogical features for students with disabilities that can help guide educators’ decision making. Presenters will discuss criteria for selecting apps and how to integrate them into mathematics instruction for students with disabilities.

  LEADER(S): Jiyeon Park, The University of Texas at Austin

  PRESENTER(S): Diane Bryant, The University of Texas at Austin

- Using Technology and Evidence-Based Strategies for Literacy Instruction
  - Attendees of this interactive and hands-on session will learn how to combine technology (mobile applications, software) with evidence-based strategies to support literacy instruction of culturally and linguistically diverse students with autism spectrum disorder and developmental disabilities. Presenters will highlight strategies to support students who are also English language learners.

TOPIC: Communicative Disabilities and Deafness
SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents an online resource which helps students to learn different Pakistan sign-language vocabulary words drawn from the Grade 4 science curriculum. An educational website was created to teach students with hearing impairments, introducing a new domain of learning (i.e. learning through online resources or interactive learning interfaces) especially for this population. The project holds promise for replication in developing countries.

» Behavior Skills Training Implemented With Parents of Children With Disabilities

SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Behavior skills training (BST) has been used to teach evidence-based intervention strategies to practitioners—how effective is it at teaching parents of children with disabilities? In this session, the presenters describe the methods of their systematic review and results of a meta-analysis that show BST is an effective parent training strategy. They will discuss practical considerations when implementing BST with parents in natural settings and identify future directions for research.

TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
FORMAT: Poster Session

Individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD) who enter the workforce may have to actively access accommodations. Self-advocacy is a critical skill for individuals with disabilities in accessing accommodations. This poster presents the results of a study examining the effects of self-advocacy instruction on the ability of four college students with IDD to request workplace accommodations in their internships. Results will be presented along with implications for practice.

 propTypes: Writing Sequences of Students With Disabilities: Level and Trend Effects of Writing Interventions

SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of a meta-analysis of the effects of writing interventions on the level and trend of writing fluency of students with disabilities and writing difficulties, in addition to potential moderating effects related to student demographics and writing task. Writing intervention, including direct instruction and self-regulated strategy development, produced gradual improvement in the trend of writing sequences for students with learning disabilities.

propTypes: Formative Assessment as an Intervention: Preservice Teachers' Instructional Planning Knowledge

TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of a study investigating how formative assessment affects preservice teachers’ knowledge of planning equitable instruction for diverse learners. The study utilized a design-based research paradigm to examine the effect of formative assessment as an intervention. Understanding how formative assessment procedures have informed preservice teachers’ knowledge, skills, and introspections can influence education policy, curriculum design, and assessment practices.

propTypes: Teaming in South Carolina to Increase Successful Outcomes, Preschool to Postsecondary

SECONDARY TOPIC: Career Development/Transition
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of a qualitative study examining the barriers and challenges that interagency teams in South Carolina faced across education settings. Interagency teams at both the preschool and postsecondary level were categorized as either established, developing, struggling, or nonexistent. Do you know the common characteristics of communities that have effective teams versus communities that have struggled to form a team or have not initiated interagency team?

Presentation: It Takes a Village: Working With Families of Students With EBD

Topic: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
Secondary Topic: Parent/Family/School Partnerships
Format: Poster Session

Families of children with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD) report a high amount of stress, a struggle to find appropriate community services for their children, and courtesy stigma from professionals within the school systems. School professionals are required to provide a free and appropriate education to students with EBD, but often struggle to support families of students with EBD. This poster presents ways that educators can support families of students with EBD.

Topic: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
Secondary Topic: Innovations in Special Education Technology
Format: Poster Session

Many educators are unsure about how to incorporate computer-based technology (CBT) into their curriculum. The complexities of this challenge increase when examining how to use CBT as a delivery vehicle to support classroom learning for culturally and linguistically diverse learners with exceptionalities (CLDE). This poster presentation will provide resources for educators to incorporate CBT in their classrooms to meet the needs of CLDE.

▶ Increasing School Leaders’ Efficacy as Advocates for Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision
SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of an effort to design and implement a strategic plan targeted to increase school leaders’ efficacy as chief advocate and champion for students with disabilities. Data collected from the researcher-designed instrument indicated additional professional development was necessary in the area of special education. A follow-up study building upon these findings examined how to increase attendance at professional development offerings as well as build knowledge.

▶ Relationships of Executive Function, Self-Regulation, and Problem Behavior of Students With EBD

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Poster Session

Students with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD) exhibit difficulties in self-regulation (SR) and executive functioning (EF). Generally, assessment and interventions target functions of behavior, although there is convincing evidence that increasing SR processes and EF can positively influence student outcomes. The presenters of this poster examine the usefulness of the BRIEF2 and TRF as measurements of SR, essential to increasing EF.

▶ Data Mountain: Improving the Oral Reading Fluency of Struggling Readers in the Elementary Grades

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session reviews the results of a randomized controlled trial testing the effectiveness of a self-determination program, Data Mountain (DM), on improving the oral reading fluency of struggling readers in Grades 2-5. Hierarchical linear models evaluated three conditions: DM delivered in small groups, DM delivered individually, and a reading practice-only comparison group. DM students read on average 2.5 more words than and had an average increase of twice the rate of comparison students.

The Effect of Working Conditions on Instructional Practices Used With Students With EBD

SECONDARY TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Students with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD) need high-quality instruction; special education teachers (SETs) need administrators to support them in their work. Improving working conditions may increase the quality of instruction provided and improve outcomes. The presenters of this session conducted a national survey to examine how working conditions in self-contained settings for students with EBD related to SETs’ reported self-efficacy and use of quality instructional practices.

How Do Teachers of Incarcerated Youth Conceptualize Assessment?

SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session shares the results of a study examining how teachers of incarcerated youth view the purposes of assessment. Teacher interviews revealed that teachers are skeptical of standardized assessments, demonstrating and understanding of threats to validity posed by the use of standardized assessments with their unique student population. Come learn about how teachers can select and use appropriate assessment instruments that capitalize on the relationships they build with students.

A Jump-Start for Kindergarten: Providing Opportunities to Explore Math Language

TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The presenters of this session worked with 50 teachers to implement a math-focused read-aloud program in preschool classrooms. Each week, teachers read a math-focused book and provided three related activities to promote child exploration of the math language in the book. At the end of 12 weeks, students demonstrated improved early math skills.

Vocabulary CHAAOS: Effective Instruction for Secondary Students With LD

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Demonstration

Teachers of seventh-grade students with learning disabilities (LD) incorporated 12 weeks of vocabulary activities in their special education classes. Students learned the words significantly better than the control group. After 2 years of instruction, students also outperformed controls on a standardized measure of vocabulary. This session demonstrates these effective activities.

☑ Postschool Outcomes and Follow-Up for Young Adults With Autism Spectrum Disorder

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability

SECONDARY TOPIC: Research

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The session will present postsecondary outcome data for a cohort of 191 young adults with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) 1 year after exiting high school. This sample of young adults were involved in the Center on Secondary Education for Students with ASD (CSESA), a 2-year multisite comprehensive intervention for students with ASD.

☑ Making 3-D Maps for Travelers Who Are Blind or Visually Impaired

FORMAT: Demonstration

Tactile maps are a longstanding intervention for students with visual impairments and blindness. Advances in 3-D printing mean that teachers no longer need to spend hours gluing, carving, or otherwise assembling maps from found materials. This demonstration will support participants in designing and producing their first 3-D printed maps.

☑ Naturalistic Observation Diagnostic Assessment for Autism

SECONDARY TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Early intervention for autism improves outcomes. People living in remote areas encounter obstacles in obtaining a diagnosis. The presenters of this session will demonstrate a diagnostic service via smart phones and mobile apps that can be used to diagnose autism spectrum disorder remotely. Research has demonstrated excellent reliability and validity when compared to in-person assessment.

☑ Proceed With Caution: Using Web-Based Resources Effectively

SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Educators frequently use social media platforms such as Pinterest and Teachers Pay Teachers for guidance on teaching. In this session, the presenters explore the reasons why these websites are popular with educators, describe potential risks and benefits, and provide examples of resources provided. Educators should identify and learn the critical elements of effective practices from trustworthy sources, and then use sites such as these to facilitate implementation.

☑ Able Voices: Photography for Self-Expression, Empowerment, and Advocacy

SECONDARY TOPIC: Arts in Special Education

FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Photovoice is a participatory photography method that puts cameras in the hands of underrepresented individuals as a powerful tool for self-expression, empowerment, and advocacy. The presenter—a parent, educator, photographer, and advocate—shares her personal story of taking photos of her nonverbal son to help him build relationships with adults and peers at school, provides research-based evidence on the power of photography, and offers a detailed tutorial on the photovoice program.

School Crime Differences Between Students With and Without Disabilities: A Longitudinal Study

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents the results of a 4-year longitudinal study comparing school-related crime rates of students with disabilities versus typically developing peers. The study included over 4.3 million typically developing students and more than 626,000 students with all types of disabilities in 2,467 schools. Proportionally, students with disabilities engaged in a significantly higher crime rate at school in comparison to their peers each year, and across all 4 years.

Putting the ‘Fun’ in Functional Behavior Assessment

SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology
FORMAT: Demonstration

This session demonstrates a free electronic tool to graph antecedent, behavior, and consequence data and which makes behavior intervention planning as easy as ABC. This Excel program is so user friendly you don’t even have to know how to use Excel! The tool generates a summary statement that can be used to write a data-based intervention plan incorporating the elements needed for a multimodal plan: revision of the environment, replacement of the behavior, and reframing of the response.

Teachers’ Reflection on Inclusive and Appropriate Project-Based Learning for Struggling Learners

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Middle-school inclusion teachers reflected on their 3-week project-based learning (PBL) unit—specifically, their struggling learners’ participation and performance, and how to structure PBL for inclusive classrooms. Focus group data themes indicate effectiveness for struggling learners when scaffolding and structure are provided. Implications for designing and implementing inclusive PBL will be shared.

Special Education Litigation and Privilege: Prevailing Parties and the Effects of Change in Burden of Proof

TOPIC: Public Policy
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents results from a special education litigation study in California: How does a student’s legal representation, being a plaintiff, and district’s wealth affect the probability of the student prevailing? What are the effects of the Supreme Court’s Schaffer decision on overall litigation patterns? Students were more likely to fully or partially prevail when represented by an attorney. As district size and wealth increased, students were less likely to receive favorable outcomes.

Aligning Early Elementary Teachers’ Knowledge of Reading Instruction With Practice

Successful implementation of Tier 2 reading interventions is based on teachers having sufficient knowledge in reading instruction. Understanding ways to improve teachers’ knowledge and practice is especially important in schools with fewer qualified teachers and more students requiring Tier 2 support. Findings from this study suggest that teachers with greater knowledge of phonological awareness instruction are able to implement higher quality Tier 2 reading interventions with students.

Moving Evidence-Based Practices Into the Classroom for Students With ASD: Program Fidelity and Positive Student Outcomes

SECONDARY TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness

FORMAT: Poster Session
Positive outcomes have been documented for students with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) when programs and curricula are implemented with fidelity. Teachers, related service staff, and paraprofessionals are able to implement evidence-based practices, including those based on applied behavior analysis, when provided ongoing coaching and support. This poster session presents the Oregon Program Autism Training Sites Project (OrPATS), a model of coaching and support, and its results.

- Number Lines for Teaching Math Word Problem Solving to English Learners

SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Poster Session

English learners (ELs) with disabilities experience multiple obstacles when solving math word problems, stemming from the intersection of their emerging English skills and mathematics disability. This poster shares results from a study that used number lines and other similar visual representations to support word problem representation for ELs with disabilities.

TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity
FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster shares the results of a multiple probe in multiple baseline design study on the effectiveness of a scientific writing intervention. The intervention targets causality, an important scientific concept, and provided middle school students with learning disabilities (LD) or who are English learners (EL) with cognitive and linguistic resources using self-regulated strategy development (SRSD) to deliver instruction.

Incorporating Evidence-Based Strategies in Content Areas to Support Exceptional and Diverse Learners

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities

FORMAT: Poster Session

Teachers are challenged to meet the needs of exceptional and diverse students. This poster presentation uses vignettes to demonstrate how content-area teachers can implement five evidence-based strategies: building prior knowledge, building vocabulary, explicit instruction, visual representation, and opportunities to respond. Research supports the benefit of incorporating instructional strategies that enhance the accessibility of course content.

Journey Mapping in Education: Deepening Insights for Educators and Researchers

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities

FORMAT: Poster Session

Learner needs are as varied as their fingerprints. Using storytelling and visualization, journey mapping is a perfect tool for investigating that variability and is well aligned to the universal design for learning (UDL) framework, research, and design. Roll up your sleeves and learn how you can add journey mapping to your professional toolkit.

Large-Group Video Modeling to Increase Social Interactions in Inclusive Classrooms

TOPIC: Early Childhood and Early Intervention
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices

FORMAT: Poster Session

For some young children with disabilities, learning appropriate social skills takes direct and explicit instruction, not only for the targeted child but also for their peers. Implementing a classwide video modeling intervention demonstrated a functional relation and very high positive effects in increasing social interactions post intervention. Results generalized to the playground.

Can Paraprofessionals Effectively Implement Behavior Interventions for Students With Disabilities?

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Poster Session

Due to the important role paraprofessionals play in assisting teachers in addressing challenging behavior of students with disabilities, it is critical to determine whether paraprofessionals can successfully implement behavioral interventions for students with disabilities and the specific conditions under which paraprofessional-delivered behavioral interventions are more or less effective. This meta-analytic literature review summarizes experimental studies on this topic.

Reliability Assessment of an Observation Tool to Measure the Quality of Praise

SECONDARY TOPIC: Measuring Special Education Teacher Effectiveness
FORMAT: Poster Session

Behavior-specific praise (BSP) is an evidence-based practice that promotes positive academic and behavioral outcomes. The presenters of this poster developed the BSP observation tool (BSP-OT) to measure efficacious characteristics of praise, such as specificity, contingency, and variability. They will describe the tool and discuss the results of a reliability assessment.

Classroom Working Alliance: Differences Between Special Education and General Education Teachers and Association With Student Engagement

SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Poster Session

Classroom working alliance is the emotional bond and collaboration between teachers and students. Currently, little is known about working alliance for middle school students with disabilities, and less about how alliance differs between special education and general education teachers. This poster presents the results of a study examining student and teacher ratings of working alliance and how these relate to student engagement.

Behavior Analysis Principles and the Classroom

TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Research has revealed that students with disabilities engage in challenging behaviors at higher rates than their peers—and that educators have an overall feeling of not being equipped to address challenging behaviors. This session is designed to increase teachers’ knowledge of behavior analytic principles, including antecedent-behavior-consequence contingency, the functions of behavior, replacement behavior, reinforcement, and punishment—illustrated with real-life scenarios.

“What Did I Just Read?” Using the SRSD Framework to Improve the Reading Comprehension of Youth in Alternative Education Settings

SECONDARY TOPIC: Learning Disabilities
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Youth in alternative education settings frequently display deficits in reading comprehension skills. To address this deficit, youth in two alternative education settings were taught the TRAP strategy using the self-regulated strategy development (SRSD) framework. Results of the two studies, as well as considerations for implementing the strategy in alternative education settings, are presented.

A Call to Action: How Teacher Training Programs in Jamaica Are Responding to the Needs of Students With Disabilities

TOPIC: International Programs/Services
FORMAT: Panel

In Jamaica, there has been a shift toward innovative programming and degree options in teacher education. However, evidence also point to pervasive challenges within teacher preparation in offering courses and/or degree options in special education. This presentation examines special education in Jamaica, particularly teacher training to support children with disabilities.

Designing Early Childhood Functional Assessment-Based Interventions: A Systematic Approach

SECONDARY TOPIC: Multi Tiered System of Support (MTSS)
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session presents the results of a study examining the effectiveness of a workshop to support early childhood educators in independently conducting functional behavior assessments (FBA) and designing functional assessment-based interventions (FABI) to address challenging behaviors. Teachers’ knowledge about FABI development improved, and they reported that the training was feasible, acceptable, and effective to address challenging behaviors of children in their classroom.

Reframing the Assessment Process: Guidelines for Teams Working with Students who are Deafblind

SECONDARY TOPIC: Assessment
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

However, obtaining accurate assessment data can be problematic for teachers, particularly for those who serve students who are deafblind (DB). While standardized tests are often considered the gold standard, they can be inappropriate for learners who are DB. To obtain a high-quality assessment, a team approach can provide the comprehensive information needed to accurately portray a student’s growth, strengths, and needs. This presentation will identify some barriers and general guidelines.

Safety for Students With ASD: Should This Be a Higher Priority?

SECONDARY TOPIC: Public Policy
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Safety for students with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) should constitute a far more important priority within elementary special education. A growing body of evidence suggests that students with ASD are, on average, almost 3 times more likely to die compared to their typically developing peers. Programs for students with ASD should make safety a priority.

Behavior Supports for Everyone: A Jargon-Free, Research-Based Approach to Problem Behavior Individuals With Severe Disabilities

TOPIC: Autism Spectrum Disorder/Intellectual Disability
SECONDARY TOPIC: Emotional and Behavioral Disorders
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

Challenging behavior can have a devastating effect on the lives of students, their families, and teachers. Unfortunately, many effective interventions are buried in behavior plans using complex technical and undecipherable terminology. In this session, the presenters will break down functional assessment and intervention using common terminology and rich examples, providing insights toward addressing challenging behavior derived from the research literature (and distilled into doable practices).

MOCCA: A Unique Measure of Reading Comprehension

TOPIC: Assessment
SECONDARY TOPIC: Research
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This session focuses on research and development of a diagnostic reading comprehension assessment called MOCCA. MOCCA diagnoses and differentiates between students who struggle with reading comprehension based on their cognitive process during reading. Participants will learn about the theory and psychometrics behind MOCCA.

The Impact of Professional Development on Teacher Knowledge and Practice in Literacy

TOPIC: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

This presentation shares the results of a study assessing the impact of a 30-hour literacy professional development on teacher knowledge and practice. Results indicated teacher knowledge increased; however, improved teacher practice was not sustained. The presentation is for administrators and teacher preparation personnel interested in learning about implementation of practice following training.

UDL and Academic Skills for Students With Disabilities, K-12: A Systematic Analysis

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: Collaboration and Inclusive Practices
FORMAT: Demonstration

Universal design for learning (UDL) is intended to meet the needs of all students in integrated settings. Most UDL research has centered on perceptions. However, scant research has examined academic skills. The presenters of this session reviewed 15 UDL academic interventions. They will demonstrate UDL principles for academic subjects.

Makerspace Professional Development Needs of Middle School Teachers: Implications for Including Students With Learning Disabilities

TOPIC: STEM
FORMAT: Presentation with Q&A

The presenters of this session discuss emerging research that is leading to a model of professional development (PD) for middle school STEM teachers to support inclusive maker classrooms. Analysis of teacher interviews, classroom observations, and instructional materials revealed that teachers acknowledge the need for ongoing PD, and are able to incrementally integrate universal design for learning (UDL) components into their lesson planning after participating in PD and embedded coaching.

Digital tools are altering what is possible for learners. Participants will learn and experience SNUDLE, a science inquiry notebook based on universal design for learning (UDL), designed to engage students and lower barriers to participation and learning. Bring your device and experience SNUDLE preparing learners to deepen science understanding, particularly among students with disabilities.

❖ Special Education Lesson Planning and the edTPA

TOpic: Personnel Preparation
FORMAT: Poster Session

The special education version of the edTPA doesn’t require the use of a certain style of lesson plan, but important clues to what they are looking for can be found through a thorough inspection of the rubrics. This poster shares how one professor completed a systematic review of the rubrics to build the lesson plan form used by his students and colleagues to ensure that no part of the planning process was missed. Attendees will be provided with the lesson plan format and teaching aids.

LEADER(S): Bryan Cichy-Parker, Pacific University, Forest Grove, OR PRESENTER(S): Larry Bryant, University of North Texas, Dallas

Passionate Teaching: Engaging Teacher Candidates in the Online Classroom

SECONDARY TOPIC: Innovations in Special Education Technology

FORMAT: Poster Session

Online education changes all components of teaching and learning in higher education. It is important for instructors to create effective online teaching practices for student engagement. This poster shares characteristics of online environments, examples of course syllabi, considerations for content development, and student reflections. Attention will be given to students who have special education needs and online courses in special education programs.

LEADER(S): Serra Acar, University of Massachusetts, Boston
PRESENTER(S): Christopher Denning, University of Massachusetts, Boston

2:15–3:00 PM SESSION: 911
ROOM: POSTER 13, HALL E

Mindfulness for Educators: Self-Care and Stress Management Practices

TOPIC: Administration/Supervision

FORMAT: Poster Session

This interactive poster session presents current research on educator stress and burnout and the implications of elevated stress levels on educator effectiveness. Attendees will gain direct, first-hand experience of two mindfulness practices. Presenters encourage questions and discussion regarding the direct practice.

LEADER(S): Wendy Weber, Southern Illinois University Edwardsville
PRESENTER(S): Connor See, Southern Illinois University Edwardsville

2:15–3:00 PM SESSION: 912

ROOM: POSTER 15, HALL E

Enhancing Teacher Instruction Through Evidence-Based Educational Technology

TOPIC: Research
SECONDARY TOPIC: STEM

FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster presents the results of a single-case design (SCD) study investigating how a teacher dashboard can be used to support data-based decision making and differentiated core math instruction for students with math difficulties. The discussion will focus on how educational technology can be used to support individual student needs in the general classroom setting.

Video Self-Modeling as a Sensory-Cueing Intervention for Bilingual Children With Apraxia

SECONDARY TOPIC: Cultural and/or Linguistic Diversity

FORMAT: Poster Session

This poster shares the results of a single-case study evaluating how a sensory-cueing intervention model using video self-modeling affected speech production of developing bilingual children with identified or suspected apraxia. Within- and between-condition analyses were conducted to determine effect and change in condition on the dependent variable (speech). Social validity measures were also used to measure social appropriateness, goal significance, and social effects.

PRESENTER(S): Norma Lopez-Reyna, The University of Illinois at Chicago
The Program Advisory Committee (PAC) headed by chairpersons David Bateman, Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania, and Jolly Piersall and Marcee Wilburn, Indiana IEP Resource Center, Indianapolis, reviewed over 1,400 proposals as a result of the convention Call for Presentations and Papers. The PAC reviews proposals with multiple goals in mind including constructing a timely, comprehensive, and balanced program that appeals to the many varied interests of convention attendees while seeking to build, maintain, and energize the professional community. The program chairs, members of the committee, representatives from CEC’s divisions, and CEC leaders represent all areas of expertise in the field and have worked hard to provide presentations of high quality and diversity to benefit you—our valued convention attendee.

Local Arrangements Committee

Kristin Lierheimer, Co-Chair, Clackamas Education Service District, Portland, Lisa McConachie, Co-Chair, Columbia Regional Programs, Portland Public Schools, Ronda Fritz, Eastern Oregon University, and Kate Aly-Brady, Bethel School District #52, together with the CEC 2020 Local Arrangements Committee listed below, began working more than a year ago preparing for CEC 2020. A remarkable group of individuals accepted responsibilities to cover important tasks such as staffing registration, program hosts, the CEC Store, and attending to the myriad other details vital to the successful operation of the convention. CEC relies heavily on volunteers and it is because of their efforts and dedication that the CEC 2020 Convention & Expo is a professional development activity of the highest quality.

A very special thank you to the following committee members.

ACCESSIBILITY
Katie Byerly, Columbia Regional Programs, Portland Public Schools
Lori Ann Duggan, Portland Public Schools

HEADQUARTERS
Ronda Fritz, Eastern Oregon University, La Grande
James Sinclair, University of Oregon

REGISTRATION
Katie Conley, University of Oregon
Kyle Reardon, University of Oregon

SPECIAL EVENTS
Kate Aly-Brady, Bethel School District #52, Eugene

VOLUNTEER
Linda Brown, Oregon Department of Education

YES I CAN!
Annie Draeger, University of Oregon

Special thanks to ALL individuals who volunteered during CEC 2020!

Special Education Legislative Summit 2020

Alexandria, VA | July 12-15, 2020
Summit Mission
This summit is about ensuring every educator is empowered to serve all students without limits. This is your profession and it is your government. There is no one more qualified than you to educate our nation’s policymakers about:

- Protecting and increasing IDEA funding for its intended purpose.
- Ensuring no policy restricts public education’s ability to deliver a free appropriate public education and early intervention services.
- Safeguarding the rights of children and youth with exceptionalities.

What to Expect
This is not your typical “sit and get” event! The summit enables you to take action. First, you will be doing some pre-conference work through conference calls, email groups, etc., in preparation for making your appointments for Hill visits. But don’t worry you will be briefed on the latest proposals under consideration by the Administration and Congress. Then, you will work in collaborative state teams to craft messages and stories that will resonate with policymakers. Most importantly, you will hit the halls of Congress, meeting with your Senators and Representative. It is a fast-paced, action-oriented experience that will leave you knowing that you can make a difference!

Explore AAC
Designed with early language learners in mind, providing ample picture support and novel structures to facilitate expressive language development. Core vocabulary is embedded within category and activity pages, allowing easy generation of language from the main core page as well as within specific topic-based pages.

PRC | Empower™
Clean. Fresh. Modern. Empower™. Empower is PRC’s new interface for Accent® devices that’s easy to use and quick to learn. Empower uses common terms and familiar actions, with clear directions and descriptions. The streamlined and simpler navigation makes it easy to start communicating - fast.

PRC | Look
The Look eye-tracking module is smaller and lighter, yet provides enhanced performance over other solutions. Look offers industry-leading features including: almost instantaneous gaze recovery, high accuracy, and low power consumption. It also offers a large track box that enables continuous eye detection, even when the user’s head is tilted or in motion.

Saltillo | NovaChat® 8
Active & Classic
For an energetic, on-the-go communicator, the NovaChat 8 Active is lightweight and portable with the added protection of a durable EVA foam wrap to help withstand drops and falls. The NovaChat 8 Classic, with its familiar, sleek and portable design is perfect for the easy-going, careful communicator. Both devices offer redesigned handles for easier carrying, upgraded amps for clearer communication, and fully adjustable stands that stay in place.

Saltillo | TouchChat®
The popular iOS AAC app brought to you by Saltillo has gotten even better with the new head tracking option! Built into the TouchChat app settings, head tracking uses the facial recognition capability of the newest iPad Pro and iPhone models to track head/face movement. Several trigger actions including hover, blink, mouth open, eyebrows up, tongue out, and frown provide a variety of options to make selecting vocabulary buttons easier.
