

THE COUNCIL FOR EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN LEGACY PROCLAMATION

Honoring the Past, Shaping the Future:
Celebrating a Legacy of Excellence in Special Education

Why Units/Division Should Nominate Members for a Legacy Proclamation

A unit or division of the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) may choose to nominate a member for a Legacy Proclamation for several compelling reasons:

- Recognition of Long-Term Impact: A Legacy Proclamation honors members who have made a lasting and significant contribution to the field of special education and CEC. Nominating someone allows the unit or division to recognize and celebrate the individual's achievements, leadership, and dedication to improving the lives of children and youth with exceptionalities.
- Preserving Historical Contributions: Legacy Proclamations document the long-standing efforts of leaders and pioneers in special education, and within the organization, ensuring that their contributions are remembered and serve as a source of inspiration for future generations of educators, advocates, and researchers.
- Inspiration for the Community: Recognizing an individual with a Legacy Proclamation highlights the high standards of excellence and commitment within the CEC community. It can motivate other professionals in the field to aspire to similar levels of dedication and innovation.
- Advancing the Mission of CEC: The Legacy Proclamation reinforces CEC's mission of advancing the success of children and youth with exceptionalities. By nominating a significant individual, a unit or division highlights how their efforts align with and support the overarching goals of CEC.
- Unit or Division Pride: Nominating an individual reflects positively on the unit or division itself. It showcases the leadership and talent emerging from that particular group, building a sense of pride and accomplishment within the community.
- Promotion of Equity and Inclusion: By recognizing diverse leaders and advocates, the nomination process helps ensure that a wide range of voices, perspectives, and contributions within the special education field and CEC are acknowledged and valued.

In essence, making a nomination for a Legacy Proclamation is a way to honor and preserve the work of exemplary members while inspiring and motivating others within the CEC and beyond.